MID-SUMMER SALE AT RICHMOND'S LOUVRE

The Greatest Slaughtering of Prices Yet Accomplished to Secure Turnover of Stock

Forced by the necessity of turning over their stock of Ladies' Dresses, Ensembles and Hats, Richmond's Louvre cannot wait until the sun shines to bring the good shopping days. The late spring and the absence of summer weather so far has curtailed the ordinary seasonal purchasing of their many customers, thus leaving a great stock on their hands. And this stock must be turned into cash and that quickly.

Hence the Mid-Summer Sale at the Louvre, which started this morning. Here you will see the greatest slaughtering of prices yet attempted by the Louvre. The most beautiful garments for summer wear offered at fractional prices! This is an instance of the principle of profits being sacrificed to the expediency of raising money quickly.

And this, of course, affords you an unusual opportunity of securing right up to the minute fashions in dresses, ensembles and hats at practically your own price.

The prices are so cut down that you can see at a glance the wonderful values. The sale started this morning. Don't wait too long but come early while the selection is good. Yours will be the profit.—Adv't.

W. Crawford of Stewart was a passenger aboard the Prince Rupert this morning from the south. He will go on through to Stewart on the same boat.
