Ex-Mayor L. D. Taylor Thinks There is Much Mineral Yet to Come Out

Ex-Mayor L. D. Taylor of Vancouver was wearing his red necktie and looked the picture of health, when here Wednesday afternoon going south after a trip to Dawson. Indeed his relief from civic cares seems to be resting lightly with him. He said he was feeling just as well as he looked. and had had a wonderful trip.

What he might have lost in the way of seeing excitement in the northern mining camps was fully compensated for throughout the trip by the comfort which he would not have had 31 years ago. From what he saw and heard, Mr. Taylor is confident that there is as great a future for mining in the Klondyke as there has been in the past. Transportation now. as then is still the big problem but there is plenty of minerar which he says is bound to come out some day.

As well as visiting the Yukon, Mr. Taylor took a trip up the Stikine River as far as Telegraph Creek with which he was also highly pleased. That is one trip he would not have been able to make 30 years ago he says.

Louise was Capt. George Black, day and Saturday, $2 return. M.P. for the Yukon, who will go to Vancouver to remain until the House of Commons session opens in Ottawa.
