ACQUIT HAWKS AND OWLS OF MUCH DAMAGE

(Juneau Empire)

Neither hawks nor owls are so black as they are sometimes painted. About a year ago the game commission of Yakima County, Wash., established a bounty on various creatures supposed to be destructive to useful birds, especially upland game birds. Arrangements were made for the preservation of the stomachs of hawks and owls killed and presented for bounty. Of these, 121, including five kinds of hawks and two kinds of owls, were forwarded to the biological survey of the United States department of agriculture for study. Here are some of the findings:

Of 45 stomachs of Swainson hawks, 40 containing food held about 90 per cent ground squirrels, the remainder consisting of snakes and grasshoppers and other insects. Of 31 stomachs from red-tailed hawks, 27 held food, of which 83 per cent was ground squirrels, 6 per cent rabbits, 1 per cent meadow mice, and the remainder snakes."

So the account goes all the way through. These hawks and owls, with a bounty on their heads, had all been preying chiefly upon ground squirrels, rabbits, mice and other species so destructive in the western states that the federal government and the states concerned have been cooperating for years in campaigns to control them. No game birds whatever had been eaten by any of the 121 hawks and owls killed, and only three birds of any kind. As a result of the findings of the biological survey, bounties on hawks and owls are no longer paid in Yakima County.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

ONCE there were two men who kept shop. Both shopkeepers were in the same mode of business, but their methods differed widely. In fact it was only a matter of time, a short time, before one must close.

Now the other shopkeeper was different, he was prosperous. His store looked neat and clean, spruce, tidy and colorful, with a front that bespoke quality and service. Now this shopkeeper was a great community booster. His bid for patronage was based on selling his customers the products of his local industries first. He claimed that the industries in his locality employed men who earned wages, who spent wages, and kept others employed. His pet theory was, the more of Pat's mouse traps he sold the more Pat must make, and the more Pat would earn to buy goods from him, the wise shopkeeper. And so he succeeded and became prosperous and popular, and his philosophy and wise counsel spread rapidly.

Now, there's a moral to this story:

Every dollar paid for foreign made goods departs from your homeland never to return; but, each dollar exchanged for a B.C. product remains in British Columbia and quickly grows in value. It enriches industry, ensures employment and introduces prosperity into the homes of the workers.

This is the third advertisement of a series authorized by the B.C. Products Bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade in the interests of the manufacturers of British Columbia.
