BUY YOUR FURS NOW

William Goldbloom Back From Buying Trip to Vancouver and Winnipeg

William Goldbloom, old fur dealer, has returned to the city from a buying trip to Vancouver and Winnipeg. He has brought with him a large stock of high class and up to date coats and other fur goods for his local shop.

Mr. Goldbloom made some close observations of the fur market in Vancouver as a result of which he is able to declare that his prices on fur goods are anywhere from 30 to 45 per cent lower than those of the southern city. Careful buying in the best markets has enabled Mr. Goldbloom to afford these lower prices to the local public.

Now is the time, Mr. Goldbloom says, to buy a fur coat for the winter. "Why delay further?" he asks those who are contemplating buying.

Mr. Goldbloom is in a position if his large stock does not contain exactly what is desired, to take orders for any manner of fur goods.

Do not forget that since last winter, he has moved to more commodious and central premises on Third Avenue across from the Capitol Theatre.—Advt.
