Vancouver to Stewart. His company is planning a big campaign of development for next season. Mr. Edwards is very opti-mistic as to the mining future for scalp treatments. Stewart.

G. W. Morrow and George Frizzell are at the head of a project to build a new boat for service up the Skeena River. The boat will cost about $25,000 and it is intended to have it ready for service next year.

Yellow-Eyed Arctic Owl Was Caught In North

KETCHIKAN, Dec. 4:-A yellow-eyed Arctic owl, which stands three feet high, arrived in Ketchikan, aboard the halibut schooner Constitution, en route to Woodland Park, Seattle. During a blinding snowstorm 65 miles off Ocean Cape, along about noon on the thirteenth of November, one of the crew of the omen, immediately thought everything was over and said: "Lord, please be good to us, we're sure gone," Captain Ekrom, realizing something had to be done, walked up to the apparition, threw a blanket over it, and is now taking a very beautiful owl to the Woodland

On the trip in, the bird became quite friendly with the entire crew. It was soon discovered that hot cakes was the owl's favorite dish. Meat and fish were absolutely refused by the bird.

Trawlers Are Being Built On

magazine "Fishing" that the New England boat yards are jammed with vessels under construction. The article follows:

"At Essex; Mass, the yards of Story and James are working to capacity and in fact have orders far ahead. The several Maine yards are all booked up and even those specializing on steel hulls are all working to full capacity on fishing crafts.

"Bethlehem has booked an order to build three 100 foot trawlers for the Whitman, Ward and Lee Division of the General Foods Corporation. Bethlehem is also building three trawlers of the same general dimensions for R. O'Brien & Company of Boston.

"The Bath Iron Works are completing two trawlers for the Bay State Fishing company and two for the A. & P. Company.

"The power for these vessels is in the neighborhood of 350 h.p. for the main propulsion plant. Some are using direct drive from the main engine to the winch, while others are employing generators mounted on the forward end of the propelling unit for the operation of electric winch mo-
