

BRITISH FLIERS PREPARE FOR ANOTHER LONG HOP

Above are the heroes of the England to Indian non-stop flight: Squadron Leader A. G. Jones-Williams, M.C. (left), and Flight Lieut. N. H. Jenkins (right), who came within an ace of breaking the world's long-distance record, are here seen on their arrival home, at Cranwell Aerodrome with Air Marshal Sir John Higgins, who greeted them on behalf of the British Government. These intrepid fliers are now preparing for another long hop. This time it will be from England to China, distance of some five thousand miles.

News of the Mines

AROUND PRINCE RUPERT
Consolidated Takes Salt Chuck Mine Near Ketchikan; Silver Crest Having Active Season; Southern Cross at Stewart Looking Good

The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. have taken options on the Rush-Brown copper mine and the Salt Chuck palladium mine at the head of Kasaan Bay, Prince of Wales Island, about forty miles from Ketchikan. The Rush-Brown mine shipped considerable high-grade copper ore from 1917 to 1920 and the Salt Chuck mine, which also contains a big percentage of copper and gold, having shipped concentrates to New Jersey through Prince Rupert for several years, is equipped with a modern flotation mill of 350 tons daily capacity.

Under the management of J. C. Chilberg, the palladium property went on the financial rocks some time ago and both it and the Rush-Brown fell into the hands of John Kohl of Ketchikan, who made the deal with Consolidated. The purchasing company is now installing 7000 feet of pipe line leading from the Salt Chuck mill to deliver compressed air for running the pump in unwatering the Rush-Brown mine. D. S. Campbell, Consolidated engineer, is in charge of the work which is being carried out on the two properties.

The Big Four group of four claims, owned by George Matheson and Louis Legge, and adjoining the George Copper and Rufus Argenta groups in the Bear River section at Stewart, have been sold to the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co., which has also bought the George Copper.

With further financing arranged for by the increase of capital from $500,000 to $1,000,000, Silver Crest Mines, Ltd., will have a busy season both on the Saddle property in Hastings Arm and on the Portland Canal property beyond the Big Missouri in the Salmon River section. It will take but little time to complete the tramway on the Saddle, all that remains uncompleted being the last tower and the unloading terminals and ore bins at the mine. Negotiations are under way to purchase the other thirty per cent of the Saddle. Ore on the property averages around $60. In view of the discoveries on the Big Missouri, further work on the Silver Crest will be watched with interest.

A. B. Armstrong of Stewart has been very busy lately with his pack trains delivering large quantities of supplies to the Mountain Boy mine, upon which a big program of development this year is planned. He has also been taking in supplies and equipment to the A. and T. property, near the head of Goose Creek, upon which the Consolidated has taken an option and has started development.

A plane of the Western Canada Airways recently took F. G. Green and survey party, as well as several hundred tons of equipment, from Stewart into Twenty-Mile Creek beyond Bowser Lake to survey the big group of 57 claims acquired by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. last fall from Tim Williams and Charles Knipple. Williams and C. H. Allen accompanied the Green party to do some prospecting on the ground and the plane also took a party into the Telgan River for the Northern Syndicate to stake some showings found many years ago by placer prospectors. The plane also made a number of trips into the interior as well as delivering a quantity of supplies at the head of Bulldog Creek for A. Linke for use in developing the Gloria Co.'s ground. W. E. Gilbert, pilot of the plane, was enthusiastic as to the possibilities of aerial service to mines of Stewart district.

Ted Morris and Charles Lake have been taking out some fine ore from their Southern Cross group in the neighborhood of George Copper and George Enterprise. The ore is peculiar in appearance, there being a quantity of brown material in the gangue, the nature of which has not yet been determined. The values, however, are evidently in grey copper content and assays went as high as 500 ounces to the ton. Morris says there is an immense mineralization lying between two dykes and that the property has all the earmarks of a big mine.

H. Tilton, an engineer connected with the Monarch mine at Field, spent several days in Smithers recently for his company and, while there, made an examination of the Victory and Coronado properties on Hudson Bay Mountain, near the Dutlie mine.

'CAPTAIN LASH' HERE, SO THE FIGHTING'S ON

Victor McLaglen's New Role is That of Battling Seaman Who Meets Clever Girl

"Captain Lash" is in town, stopping at the Capitol Theatre, where, at many intervals, and for more than an hour at a time, he is to provide some real love-making and some thrilling two-handed knock-down, drag-out fighting tonight and tomorrow. "Captain Lash," is Fox Films' newest starring production for Victor McLaglen, of "What Price Glory?" fame, and it is a whale of a picture.

McLaglen, in the name part, is called Captain Lash because he drives his men in the stoke hole of an ocean liner like a human whip. Off duty he is a gay Romeo or a fighter as the mood seizes him.

As usual, a girl—Claire Windsor—gets him in her power, and thus into a series of exciting situations from which he finds it hard to extricate himself.

Miss Windsor furnishes the feminine pulchritude and some mighty good acting. Comedy moments are many when Cocky (Clyde Cook) and his concertina combine to save Lash from trouble.

TALKIES ARE HERE TO STAY, ASSERTS G. BERNARD SHAW

Fault is Voice Exaggeration, Declares Playwright

LONDON, Aug. 5:—Talking pictures have come to stay, according to George Bernard Shaw, who celebrated his seventy-third birthday yesterday.

"The mechanical side of the talking picture is now sufficiently developed," says Shaw. "It is the actors and the actresses who need improvement. Artists are infinitely more adaptable, naturally, than machines.

"The problem of talking pictures is that they exaggerate the voice as much as a silent film exaggerates a gesture. Look at the picture of the new Labor cabinet in England.

"The ministers were introduced by Premier MacDonald, just after they took office, for the benefit of the movietone. Philip Snowden, the chancellor of the exchequer, was uncertain whether or not to shake hands with the premier. He half began to do so, then changed his mind. In real life the twitch was no doubt infinitesimal. On the screen you cannot fail to see it.

"Ramsay MacDonald is magnificent. He is the greatest artist since Gladstone. And Gladstone was a thundering good actor—some people think that is all he ever was.

"This film is the best since mine. It is even better.

"When films first began, the producers secured the services of actors and actresses who, anxious to 'get across,' used the same gestures as on the stage, and, of course, overdid it. When the talking pictures began, the producers secured the services of film actors and actresses who were not used to using their voices. The result has been that, accustomed to saying things with their faces, they still do this most effectively, and then, afterwards, they still have voices to continue with.

"When I made the experimental picture of myself, I told the producers and the men who worked the machines what to do. When it was all over they told me that I had told them in 10 minutes the secret of getting effects on which they had been working for the past year."

AERIAL PHOTOGRAPHY 1928

During the 1928 season, 88,000 aerial photographs of areas in different parts of Canada were taken by the Royal Canadian Air Force for the Topographical Survey, Department of the Interior. Of these 17,500 were oblique views and the remainder vertical views.
