Mrs. Forbes Makes Butter

She calls it Economy Butter, and it is well named, considering the quantity she gets, and the low cost of the extra butter. To half a pound of butter add one SMALL tin of Pacific Milk, in which has been dissolved a small pinch of baking soda. Whip 'till the butter has all been taken up and allow to set gradually in a cool place. It makes almost a pound of butter—good butter, too. Many will thank Mrs. Forbes for her kindness, as we do.

"Chance of a Lifetime" Proves Exciting Story at Westholme Theatre.

In "The Chance of a Lifetime" at the Westholme last night, Dick Douglas, owner of Netherby Hall, is engaged to Miss Di, daughter of his trainer. Dick finds himself, through the machinations of Captain Clinch, the head of a gang of thieves, in financial difficulties. On the advice of his trainer, Dick sells all his horses except his mare Trixie, whom they hide in Dick's bedroom. Trixie is entered for the Askwood Cup, but Captain Clinch and his associates endeavor to steal her. In an effort to save the mare, Mrs. Edgar is caught in a compromising situation with Dick. This causes Di to break off her engagement to him. Captain Clinch, unable to make Dick's jockey ride crooked, succeeds in stealing the Cup.

The unraveling of the mystery of Mrs. Edgar's silence, the recovery of the Askwood Cup, and the ultimate happy union of the lovers are too thrilling to explain here. It is sufficient to say that the interest and excitement are fully sustained until the climax of the last reel.

The play is repeated tonight.

DANCE-HALL GIRL CENTRE OF STORY

"Tongues of Flame" proved to be an exciting story at the Empress Theatre last night. There is plenty of action, the melodramatic wild west being featured throughout. Marie Walcamp is seen as Teresa, a dance-hall girl, who, having knifed her lover, is being carried through the woods to prison, tied to the back of a horse, by the sheriff and his deputy. With utmost daring she catches the officers off their guard, kills the deputy, wounds the sheriff and takes refuge in a huge hollow tree in the redwood forest.

She finds her sanctuary is also the home of L'Eau Dormant, an educated half-breed, who is living as a hermit.

L'Eau Dormant gives her his sylvan home, and he pitches camp nearby. Under his influence Teresa begins to reform.

Then affairs reach a cyclonic climax when the half-breed falls in love with a minister's daughter, when the sheriff, also in love with her, starts to kill Dormant. Dormant discovers the sheriff is his father, the man who ruined the life of his Indian mother. Then an all-enveloping forest fire starts sweeping in on Dormant and Teresa, who has come to warn the half-breed, and the sheriff.

FULLER'S GROCERY EMPLOYEES PICNIC AT INDIAN VILLAGE

Yesterday afternoon the employees of Fuller's Grocery stores held an outing to Metlakatla. In spite of the rather dull weather in the afternoon the affair was a very successful one and all those who went along returned very much satisfied with the day. The outing included the families of those employed at the store on Hays Cove Avenue and on Third Avenue. About twenty-five made up the picnic all together.

On landing permission was granted to the joy seekers for the use of the verandah of one of the big buildings over there. A big table was set up and chairs placed around in the very comfortable spot. A big stove was in one corner and this was a very cheerful feature as it began to rain—ear supper time, when the ladies started the preparation of the evening meal. This is the first outing of the nature here and it is not very likely to be the last. Such events will very likely be arranged annually.

The arrangements were in the hands of L. M. Fuller, Edwin Smart and Howard Steen, and it was not until well on in the evening that it was decided that a start should be made for home. The Dixie Rupert was chartered for the occasion.
