THIEVES ARE AT WORK ON WATERFRONT

The popular belief that the pirate and buccaneer no longer exist in these highly civilized days receives a lusty knock when a visit is paid to see the amazing motion picture "The River Pirate." This sensational film depicts the exploits of modern corsairs along New York's waterfront. Stealing ropes, chain and other things used at sea from one boat and selling them to others is a nefarious trade which has gone on for many years and is still going on despite all attempts to stop it.

"The River Pirate" shows faithfully the desperate battles between the forces of law and order and ruthless desperadoes engaged in this form of piracy with a little smuggling thrown in. A sweet romance runs throughout the story.

Played by an all-star cast, which includes Victor McLaglen, Nick Stuart and Lois Moran, the picture is both interesting and thrilling. A Jack Duffy comedy and a gazette round out a fine bill. Synchronized music with sound effects will accompany all through.

Between shows local vaudeville will appear, Emil Hudema in cornet solos and the Bussanich Brothers in instrumental duets.

A good time is assured for everyone.

Inspector William Spiller, provincial police, returned to the city on yesterday afternoon's train from a trip to Smithers on official duties.

FAMOUS SCREEN LOVERS IN THRILLING ROMANTIC DRAMA

Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky In "Two Lovers" At Capitol Tonight

"Two Lovers" with Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky as its leading players, comes to the Capitol Theatre tonight and Thursday, as Samuel Goldwyn's final and farewell presentation of the most famous duet in screen history.

Laid against the ever-stirring background of war, "Two Lovers" tells the story of Mark Van Rycke, son of the patrician burgomaster of Ghent, and of his secret adventures as "Leatherface," mysterious and faithful aid to William, Prince of Orange, who seeks to lead the enslaved country of Flanders to freedom from the oppressing hands of the Spaniards. Wild night rides, hair-raising duels (of wit as well as of sword) reveal Ronald Colman, as "Leatherface," in a role more colorful and varied than any he has ever attempted.

Vilma Banky is Lenora, The Flower of Spain, niece of the Duke of Azar, oppressor of the Flemish and commandant of the Spanish. Her royal kinsman weds her to Mark in a gorgeous ceremony, rich in the medieval ceremony of Flanders, a bride of state. Loathing him as her enemy and forced mate, she comes to respect him—for he refuses his marriage privileges. Just when she begins to love him, Lenora makes a discovery about Mark that causes her to hate him. How she betrays and delivers him into the hands of the Spaniards, and then, discovering her mistake, joins the heroic efforts of Mark and his countrymen in their final battle through the swamps for freedom, ending in the assault on the impregnable Kasteel, are among the high spots of the picture.

Freddy Wells Playing Xylophone Tonight

As an added attraction with the big feature picture "Two Lovers," Freddy Wells, popular Xylophonist with the Capitolians will offer the following tonight: (a) a "Four Hammer" solo—"When You and I Were Young Maggie," (b) "You Tell Me Your Dreams."
