PRECIOUS SCRAP
JOHANNESBURG — South African town councils have been asked to introduce regulations controlling the sale of scrap metal. Police are concerned over the increasing thefts of copper, brass and lead from houses and buildings, by thieves who rush it to receivers who convert the scrap into new forms to evade investigation.

Reflects and Reminisces

A Victoria reports says west coast astronomers have accurately measured a star which is 150 times the size of the sun. Somehow, it is impossible for us to feel as darned small as the fellow who did the measuring must have felt.

WHERE THEY SAID

When Noel Jones was in Lloydminster some months ago after an absence of about forty years, he scarcely knew the place. Small wonder. Today all the farmers are interested in oil development. "When I lived there," remarked Noel, "no one missed the annual fair, and to win vegetable prizes gave you a feeling of pride. Oh, yeah! We were all sitting on oil, without knowing the least thing about it."

What you give away is the only wealth which you will always have.—EX.

LOCKUPS AND STEPS

Will fail to endorse the recent suggestion that a new city hall building is required in Prince Rupert. Doubtless, it will appear once funds become available. But it is highly questionable if there is any desire to see it contain long stairways and a jail.

British Columbia has been so prosperous in the past few years, is thriving so greatly at present and will flourish on such a monumental scale in the future, that such a thing as a depression is out of the question. So says the minister of finance. A declaration without a single "if" or "but" to be found anywhere in it.

STILL HERE

The Spanish prisoner game tries to victimize each generation evidently. Fifty years ago, it was old stuff in Eastern Canada. To day it bobs up in Nelson, and has for some time been circulating letters in the Okanagan district. The wonder is that a fraud, so ancient and so obviously raw could possibly exist this long.

HUCLECOTE, England — A big building firm in this Gloucester town has received all order from Queensland, Australia, for 27 aluminum school buildings at a cost of about $450,000.
