ARMY KEEPS UP GOOD WORK

Colonel G. Best, Salvation Army Field Secretary for Canada and Bermuda, and Mrs. Best, who are visiting Northern and Central British Columbia, expect to leave today on their return south. The former, who has been in the Naas valley, was much impressed with the natural beauty of that part of the coast. The tour has also been of much interest to Mrs. Best, who arrived last night from up river.

A well attended meeting took place last evening in the citadel. It was presided over by Senior Captain W. C. Poulton. A feature was the showing of motion pictures, descriptive of Salvation work, with particular emphasis on redemption work among the fallen, in great cities. Colonel Best remarked that no one should assume it was only in the early days of the Salvation Army that great effort and struggle were needed in coping with situations as they arose. Today, just as much as eighty years ago, must the Army meet the demands confronting it.

The movies revealed different aspects of what is being accomplished in Chicago, as well as vivid scenes in Skid Road, squalor, dissipation and the consequences of evil, the Street of Lost Hope, and the far reaching and helpful services of the Harbor Light Corps.

The camera was operated by Senior Captain Geo. Cyttyk.

Hit on Road—Legs Broken

James Reynolds, Terrace electrician, was flown from Smithers to Vancouver at the end of last week suffering from two fractured legs, shock and loss of blood after being struck by a passing car on the highway near Kitwanga.

On a holiday trip to the interior with his wife and children, Reynolds had stopped on the roadside to obtain something from the rear of the truck. He was sideswiped by a passing car. Reynolds suffered considerably from loss of blood before being picked up by a passing motorist.

Quiet Month In Fires Here

One of the slackest months at the fire hall was August, with only 10 calls answered and "very slight" damage. Probably greatest damage was done to a totem pole which started blazing but it was not estimated, Fire Department said.
