SHIPS AND WATERFRONT

Waterfront rumor has it that another China Coaster type of freighter which is being brought out by Frank Waterhouse line from the Atlantic for service on the British Columbia coast may figure in a new regular service to the Queen Charlotte Islands. Fitted out with stateroom accommodation for twelve or more passengers, the vessel would go on regular service to the Islands—the people of which now seem to have turned to the air from the steamship when travelling—replacing the service now being carried out by Union Steamships Ltd. with its steamer Coquitlam. Relieved of the Island run, the Coquitlam would then add Kitimat—already producing much traffic to Alcan developments—to her route between Vancouver and Prince Rupert. In any case, it is obvious that Kitimat will soon have to be given some sort of a regular coastal freight and passenger service and the Union Steamships line would appear to be the logical one to do it. The problem, of course, is to find the ships to do it.

Union steamer Coquitlam, Capt. William McCombe, returned to port at 3:15 yesterday afternoon from south Queen Charlotte Islands points and sailed at 8 p.m. for Vancouver and waypoints. At 6 p.m. the second Union liner of the day, the steamer Camosun, Capt. John Boden, arrived from Vancouver and sailed at 11 p.m. for Alice Arm and Stewart whence she will return here tomorrow morning to sail south at 12 noon.

Passengers travelling by the Prince George on the Oregon Journal special cruise to Alaska have been seeing a lot of the North since their two-hour stay here last Monday. The Prince George was here again Saturday evening, being in port for a few hours. In Juneau among the places seen were the Mendenhall Glacier and Auk Lake, as well as the Territorial Museum.

For having violated fishing regulations, the Alaska halibut boat Biorla of Sitka, Capt. Frank Paul, Sr., was recently seized by the United States Coast Guard ship Citrus. The season had closed in Area No. 2. The Biorla was found with gear out after May 28. This was near Point Craven in Peril Straits. She was escorted to Juneau. The craft had about 2200 pounds of halibut on board.

A new airtel service three times weekly to the site of the Alcan project at Kitimat has been started by the Queen Charlotte Airlines. The Canso amphibian aircraft can carry 20 passengers and 6000 pounds of air cargo.

Interested in Wilby Creek

Owen McFadden of Stepart Announces Deal—Stewart Canal Also Active

California interests have purchased his Wilby Creek Metals property which lies amid an ice field near Meziadin Lake, north of Stewart, it was stated last evening by Owen McFadden, pioneer mining and transportation man of the Portland Canal district, who was in the city last evening returning north after a business trip to Vancouver and Victoria. As soon as the trail can be opened up to the property, a diamond drilling outfit will be taken in to carry out the first phase of new development work.

McFadden says that Wilby Creek, in about 70 miles from Stewart and 16 miles southeast of Meziadin Lake, has a large showing of low grade gold and copper ore with three- to five-foot veins containing 2 1/2 ounces of gold. To reach the property one goes in to Meziadin Lake and thence south on the lake to Wilby Creek and up the creek 16 miles by pack trail. McFadden discovered the property in 1938. Some of the supplies will be taken in by air.

McFadden also expects to see a resumption of operations on the well-known Stewart Canal property just across Bear River at the head of Portland Canal about half a mile from Stewart. Operations on the Stewart Canal were resumed recently and, with a new deal being negotiated, are expected to be stepped up on this well-known gold, copper, silver-lead scheelite property.

Portland Canal mining camp is due for a comeback, McFadden is confident. He declares the closing down on the government agent's and public works offices at Stewart, thereby making the development of the Stewart district suffer for political reasons. "These offices should be reopened immediately," declares McFadden so the handicap to the mining industry will not continue. Indignation is running high at Stewart, he says.

Operetta At Terrace

TERRACE—A splendid evening's entertainment was presented by the pupils of the elementary school on Friday in the Civic Centre when they staged "Judy Ann," a juvenile operetta in two acts. Good dialogue, well delivered and very amusing at times, delightful songs and charming dances, contributed to the enjoyment. A great deal of merriment was derived from the impromptu actions of some of the young performers.

The costumes for the dance members, many made by parents, were lovely. Especially delightful were those of the "Bees and Birds." Exceptionally amusing were those of the "Candy Clowns" and, in this number, the capers of the jumping jack clown, Mary McColl, were noteworthy.

As time passed and the children overcame their original nervousness it was quite obvious that they too were hugely enjoying themselves and regretted the end of it. There were long dialogues and the children did remarkably well in them all being very well chosen to fit their parts.

Miss Annie Lips, principal of the elementary school, was the announcer and she paid tribute to her staff for the time and work spent on the children. Mrs. Labelle and Mr. Hamilton had directed the children in the dialogue. Mrs. McIntosh was pianist, and, assisted by Miss Matte, Miss Samograd, Miss Dow and Miss Switzer took charge of the songs choruses and dances.

The costumes and stage properties were made by the parents among whom were Mrs. Dudley Little, Mrs. Stuart Campbell, Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. Kenyon, Mrs. Collier, Mrs. Bush and Mrs. Harper. Others of the P.T.A. who assisted were Mrs. Hagen, Mrs. Morven, Mrs. Pache, Mrs. Archibald, Mrs. H. Cote, Mrs. Bain, Mrs. Gale, Mrs. Gough, Mrs. F. Frank, Mrs. Harper, Mrs. Irving, Mrs. L. Johnstone, Mrs. Wold, Mrs. Orr, Mrs. Collier and Mrs. Clifford.

The backdrop of a garden in summer was made by Mrs. Labelle and her class.

The cast included John Foster, Ann Smith, Marilyn de Kergommeaux, Tommy de Kergommeaux, Joan Gaven, Davis Stewart, Myra Smith, Maryvyn Paulsen, Ida Lee Llewellyn, Jack Collier, Robert Melvin, Arlene Craig, Joe Sparkes, Joan Stewart, Lynne Farquham and Janice Kennedy.

Taking part in chorus and dances were Marilyn de Kergommeaux, Janice Kennedy, Karer Farquham, Denise Warner, Marilyn Orr, Janice Bain, Irene Pruss, Pat Harper, Marilyn Johnstone, Lorraine Irvine, Edith Jones, Dorothy Wold, Sandra Edmonds, Roberta Kenyon, Lyn Farquham, Tommy de Kergommeaux and John Foster.

The entertainment was sponsored by the Parent Teacher Association, H. Noakes presided at the door and Mr. Scutt was in charge of the programs.

LOOSE ENDS

a wage increase of about 60 cents an hour, that example, spreading later to other industries, could start a spiral ending only in national disaster.

There is still a larger danger—a reduction in working hours, which some unions are now demanding. For the supreme need of the nation, to beat inflation and to provide rearmament, is an increase in the total production of goods, and a reduction in working hours will certainly curtail production.

There is no use arguing that men working short hours—healthy, happy and efficient—will produce more goods than those working too long and hence tired, unhappy and inefficient. That is certainly true up to a point, but we have passed the point in Canada.

No news is more basic and alarming than Mr. Abbott's little-noted announcement in his last budget that the per capita productivity of Canada—the output per working hour—has not increased for five years, despite our huge new mechanical equipment. If productivity per capita has stood still for five years then it is only plain arithmetic to conclude that a cut in working hours now will reduce output, leave us with less goods and, as wages rise, with more money in our pockets—the perfect recipe for runaway inflation.

In his budget Mr. Abbott mentioned these things in the customary dead-pan fashion of a national treasurer. A budget speech, however its maker may feel, must never appear excited. Once out of Parliament, labor yet grasped them?
