

Ketchikan Publisher Impressed With New Prosperity of Area

(By BILL BAKER, Ketchikan Chronicle)
"Veni, vidi, vici," as Julius Caesar said some time ago—"I came, I saw, I conquered."
We have come, we have seen and been conquered by the hustle of activity in central British Columbia and the big new Columbia Cellulose Co. corporation is being pulp at Prince Rupert and whose half-

Puget Sound mills are also in the market, due to the shortage of manpower in the woods and the big demand for pulp due to the world emergency.
What the U.S. forest service has to consider, of course, is whether exporting some logs now used in Alaska would thwart the coming of pulp mills to Alaska. It realizes, of course, that the present practice of selective logging of saw timber is not economical and that it leaves hemlock standing to replace the spruce that is removed—which eventually will eliminate much of the fine Sitka spruce of present Alaska timberland. But it does not seem to realize that its present policy has reduced the logging industry of Southeastern Alaska from its peak during World War II when about 1000 men were employed, to about one-tenth of that amount today, with operations at Edna Bay, at Hood Bay, at McDonald Brothers camp and the other leading camps now virtually nonexistent.

With business generally depressed in Southeastern Alaska and a crying need for this timber for vital purposes, it might be wise for the ban to be modified in the case of hemlock only, at least until the Ketchikan pulp mill is built and operating, and at least in areas not now set aside for future pulp mills. This is a proposal we believe merits serious consideration for the tonic it could provide to the flagging economy of Alaska's Panhandle.—W.L.B.

WEATHER

Synopsis

Falls of smoke hang over the south coast today as one of the driest Junes on record comes to an end. Weather here will continue warm and dry.
In the interior there has been a considerable increase in cloudiness over the last 24 hours and a few showers have been reported in the Prince George and Revelstoke areas. Shower activity is likely to continue in these parts especially during the afternoon.

Forecast

North Coast Region—Considerable low cloudiness and fog along the shoreline in the morning. Otherwise, mostly clear today and Sunday. Little change in temperature. Wind—northwest twenty. Lows tonight and highs tomorrow—at Port Hardy, Sandspit and Prince Rupert, 55 and 70.

Fish Price Is Settled

Salmon prices for 1951 have been settled. Negotiations between fishermen and operators along the West Coast resulted this morning in agreement on new prices. Deadline for a strike call was to have been tomorrow.

However, all seiners will remain tied up until weighing fish on the grounds has been accepted by the operators.

New prices are:

Sockeye, 25 cents; coho, 18 cents; pink, 9½ cents, and chum, 7½ cents.

Seiners vote Tuesday to accept or reject operators' offer.

Vic Raschi Wins Game

NEW YORK — Brilliant pitching by Vic Raschi and a clutch double by Joe DiMaggio enabled New York Yankees to shade Boston Red Sox 2 to 1 Friday and remain half a game behind the front-running Chicago White Sox.
Chicago smeared St. Louis Browns 10 to 3 in a game delayed by rain at Chicago.
Raschi limited the Red Sox to three hits to gain his twelfth victory against four defeats before 50,332 fans at the Yankee Stadium. The big right-hander and Boston's Maury McDermott were locked in a 1-1 duel until the eighth inning when DiMaggio doubled home Phil Rizzuto from second base to break up the game.

Pastors' Stand On Port Day

A special meeting of the Ministerial Association was called to consider the invitation of the Port Day Committee in reference to Divine Service at Port Day Sunday next.

Canon Basil S. Prockter explained what the proposal was, stating that, as an individual clergyman, he had promised cooperation in order to give proper religious significance to what would otherwise be a purely secular occasion.

The meeting unanimously deplored that the Lord's Day should be used for an organized sports event and went on record as being sure that, since Saturday is also an "off" day with regard to the fishing, the events might well be run on that day.

The action of Canon Prockter and any others who might be with him for this service has therefore, no official sanction or blessing from the Association itself.

Douglas Frizzell, chairman of Port Day expressed regret today that it seemed necessary to make arrangements without more adequate warning and discussion and hoped that time may bring some solution in which there is more general agreement.

NO PAPER MONDAY

Monday, being observed as Dominion Day, the Daily News will not be published next Monday. The next regular edition will appear Tuesday.

Miss Maria Brett has arrived home from her studies at St. Anne's Academy in Victoria to spend the summer vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Brett.

Battery Wins Dominion Cup

Battery won the Dominion Day football cup last night with a 4 to 0 victory over Canadian Legion in the pre-played final. Two goals were scored by Zachereilli in the first half, the first after twelve minutes and the second after seventeen. After 28 minutes a loose ball found its way into the net of Ford.
In the second period Zachereilli turned the hat trick to put the Battery four up.
It was a worthy second season in succession for Battery.

Exposition at Civic Centre is Intriguing

After the Soap Box Derby races last night, Jack McRae, MLA, from the main entrance steps of the Civic Centre, officially opened the Prince Rupert Exhibition. He congratulated all those concerned in the organization of the industrial and natural resources show, the introduction of which was an admirable effort.

Telegrams of best wishes, read by T. N. Youngs, master of ceremonies, came from E. T. Applewhite, MP for Skeena; Hon. E. T. Kenney, minister of lands and forests; Hon. Byron Johnson, premier of B.C. All expressed wishes of success for the exhibition.

Following the official opening, the crowds proceeded to the exhibitions in Navy Drill Hall and Civic Centre gymnasium where they saw natural resources, industrial and commercial displays of a highly ambitious and interesting character, representing a wide variety of activity and reflecting the new economic era which has arrived in this city and district.

The show has brought a new prestige to the Civic Centre management and those who conceived this innovation. All who saw the show were loud in their congratulatory comment.

Many of the displays are highly finished and in the most of them there has been a large measure of ingenuity.

The outside gateway, retaining some of the old Civic Centre Carnival features, piled a lively trade during the evening.

The industrial display, the gateway and the natural resources exhibits were thronged by more than a thousand men, women and children.

Highlighted in the natural resources were the Alcan display, the Columbia Cellulose and forestry feature, the Indian craft and arts showcase and the 250-cubic-foot freezing unit holding various forms of sea life found in the waters around Prince Rupert.

Youngsters found the continuously moving trains in the Alcan display especially attractive, standing wide-eyed in wonderment as the true scale model locomotives chugged, shone lights and belched smoke from their funnels. One train carried raw materials to the great mill and the other took away finished product.
Meanwhile, the auto show in the industrial display section, in the Navy Drill Hall, drew crowds, both young and old to view first hand the newest and latest models of various makes of cars.
Booths show latest equipment and appliances, as well as food displays, garments, furs, and other consumer goods.
Back in the natural resources showroom, a mineral display, tabbed and classified, shows the various minerals from the Prince Rupert district and where they are mined.
A miniature liver-processing plant, supplied by the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative Association, and a boat-building display are other interesting and educational features.
Winner of the nightly prize of $100 was Jack Cle, ticket number 5162.

HMCS Ontario Fights Fires

Forest fires on the Queen Charlotte Islands, while reported under control, remain something of a risk. H.M.C.S. Ontario, which sailed from Prince Rupert last Monday, was still lying off the scene of the fires Friday. Co-operation has been given by the cruiser, such as landing offshore parties and ships fire fighting equipment at certain points.

Communists Slow in Responding to Gen. Ridgway's Overture

TOKYO (CP)—The United Nations today invited the Communists to talk about a Korean armistice but Red reactions were not encouraging. There was no word of a reply from the Communist military commander more than 16 hours after General Matthew B. Ridgway had suggested peace talks.

BULLETINS

AIR LINER, 49, MISSING

DENVER, Colorado—Search planes and ground crews combed northern Colorado today for a United Air Lines Mainliner which is missing with 49 persons on board. The DC-6, last heard from at 1:46 a.m., was one of the first United planes to go back in service since pilots called off their strike yesterday.

CANADIAN RED SHIPS

OTTAWA—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today that the controversial Ming Sung ships, flying the Canadian flag, have been taking to Red China from Hong Kong "many materials" which Canada herself does not allow to be exported to Communist countries. Such trade as trucks, rubber tires, scrap metal and iron rods was now being stopped by British action. The Prime Minister did not feel that seizure action should be taken at this time. Investigation was still going on and the matter was by no means a closed book.

PARLIAMENT PROROGUES

OTTAWA—Parliament adjourned at noon today for the summer. It will reassemble in the fall.

FIGHTING IN BANGKOK

BANGKOK—The navy fought today what appeared to be a losing battle as a rebel government was set up to replace that of the kidnapped premier. Army and navy forces fought an artillery duel in the streets.

FIRES STILL RAGING

VANCOUVER—A barrier of flames formed by Vancouver Island's biggest forest fire in a decade marooned 76 firefighters last night in the smoke-cloaked Campbell River region. They are being supplied by air and Forest Branch spokesmen said they were not considered to be in great danger.

FAMILY IS BURNED

PARKHILL, Ont.—Four young children and their father died today in flames that swept their small home at Sylvan, six miles west of here and 28 miles northwest of London. The dead are Frederick White; Shannon, 7; Michael, 4; Beverly, 2, and Freddie, seven months.

Hon. H. Bowman Is Brief Visitor

Hon. Harry Bowman, provincial minister of agriculture, after a quick trip through the central interior, arrived here by car this morning and enplaned for Victoria.

Although skies were clear and the sun was hot Thursday, it still was not the hottest day of the year. Temperature yesterday was 70 degrees, "right on the nose," according to the Digby Island weather station.
June 5 was hotter by 15 degrees.
"Cool winds cut the temperature," the weatherman said.
