Many Dangers in Fisherman's Calling.

The sinking of the fishing boat Alameda draws attention once more to the fact that the life of the fisherman is beset with danger and that while he sometimes makes big money he has many risks to take. It is a calling that needs plenty of stamina and the life develops a hardihood of character such as has made Great Britain great among the countries of the world.

Baron Beresford Was a Great Man.

Baron Beresford was one of that fearless breed of men of whom we like to read and at the record of whose deeds we all thrill with pride. He was one of the bulldog type that never lets go. Whether it was on the high seas against the enemies of the country or in parliament in forensic battle he was a hard hitter and fought without compromise. He was one of the men who tried again and again to rouse the Empire to the danger of war with Germany at a time when everyone was refusing to believe that country meant anything but peace.

Suez Canal is Important Waterway.

The first year the Suez Canal was opened, that is in 1869, only ten vessels passed through it, the total tonnage being 10,557. In 1913 the number had increased to 5,085 of over twenty-seven millions gross tonnage. The first year of the war there was a large amount of war material taken that way, but traffic gradually fell off with the smallest amount last year for many years past. Now it is on the increase again.

It will take a good many years to make up the loss which occurred during the war and that will affect the business of the canal. There will also be a shifting of the nationalities. Germany will do very little for years to come.

Mufti is Book Worth Reading.

Our attention having been drawn to the story "Mufti" by Sapper, through a writer in one of the departments of this paper, we have taken the trouble to read the book carefully and find it a first rate yarn and one that is an incentive to thought.

In the first place the story is one that makes the reader want to stay up at night in order to reach the climax. It is a story of love and of the ever pressing economic problem that forces men and women to do that which they otherwise would not. It does not set out to settle anything, but it gives the labor and capital side as well as that of the man between. That is part of the story. Undoubtedly the writer is a student of the new movements and he writes sympathetically. He makes it clear that there is reason in every point of view.

The writer also deals with religion incidentally. He tells how the men in the trenches are thinking for themselves. He says: "The simple creed of helping on the other fellow and playing the game is what they understand. But they will have to be reminded of it from time to time. One wonders whether the church will be big enough to seize the opportunity that stares her in the face."

He also introduces snatches of life in the trenches as he has seen them. Here is a reference which is interesting:

"Are you a Socialist?" she demanded suddenly.
"God knows what I am," he answered cynically. "I am trying to find out. You see, something has happened over the water which alters one's point of view. It hasn't happened over here. And just at the moment I feel like a stranger in a strange land."

Sometimes Sapper makes his characters argue for individualism. Here is a little example:

"It strikes me you are a great deal too occupied about other people, and you don't pay sufficient attention to yourself. You've got to live your own life—not the man's next door. And you do most good by living that life as you want to live it. If you really want to reform other people, well go and do it. Its part of your job. But if you don't want to, its no earthly use trying to pretend you do. You're merely a hypocrite. There's no use telling me that everybody can be lumped into classes and catered for like so many machines."

Another significant phrase which runs contrary to the accepted notions is: "The people who fail are the people who do things from a sense of duty."

Space forbids any further notice of this book today, but possibly some further quotations may interest readers who delve into the new books and who like to know what is worth while.

For your children's injuries nothing is equal to Zam-Buk—it ends pain so quickly! Children know this and when they have once had it applied will cry for it again. Mrs. T. D. Ruston of the Children's Aid Society, Belleville, Ont., says: "We never use anything but Zam-Buk for our children's cuts, burns, bruises, etc. We have found it superior to all other remedies for ending pain and healing, and we have also found, by experience, that an injury treated with Zam-Buk never festers. With so many children in our shelter, we really could not afford to be without Zam-Buk, not only for their injuries, but also for their sores and skin troubles."

Mothers! Be sure to keep a box of Zam-Buk on the medicine shelf. It will save you much needless anxiety as well as expense. Zam-Buk does not deteriorate with keeping, and retains its strength and purity to the very last. For eczema, ringworm, boils, pimples, ulcers and piles, Zam-Buk is equally good. If you have not already tried this herbal balm, cut out this advertisement, write across it the name of this paper and send it with 1c. stamp (to pay return postage) to Zam-Buk Co., Dupont St., Toronto. We will then send you a free trial box. All dealers 50c. box.

LAND REGISTRY ACT (Sections 36 and 134.)

Re Application No. 41,044-1. File 6,198. That application has been made to register Jim Postulu of Prince Rupert, B. C., as owner in fee under a Tax Sale Deed from the Collector of the City of Prince Rupert, bearing date the 1st day of December, 1918, of ALL AND SINGULAR that certain parcel or tract of land and premises situate, lying and being in the City of Prince Rupert, more particularly known and described as Lot seven (7), Block twenty-five (25), Section seven (7), Map 923; you are required to contest the claim of the said Postulu within 35 days from the date of the service of this notice (which may be effected by Publication in a daily newspaper), and your attention is called to section 36 of the "Land Registry Act" with amendments and to the following extract therefrom: "and in default of a caveat or certificate of his pendency being filed before the registration as owner of the person entitled under such tax sale, all persons so served with notice, and all persons claiming through or under them, and all persons claiming any interest in the land by virtue of any unregistered instrument, and all persons claiming any interest in the land by descent or otherwise, shall be deemed to have accepted the provisions of this Act, shall be for ever estopped and debarred from setting up any claim or right in respect of the land so sold for taxes, and the Registrar shall register the person entitled under such tax sale as owner of the land."

AND WHEREAS application has been made for a Certificate of Indefeasible Title to the above-mentioned lands, in the name of Jim Postulu,

AND WHEREAS on investigating the title it appears that prior to the 10th day of October, 1917 (the date on which the said lands were sold for overdue taxes), you were the assessed owner thereof,

FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that at the same time I shall effect registration in pursuance of such application and issue a Certificate of Indefeasible Title to the said lands in the name of Jim Postulu unless you take and prosecute the proper proceedings to establish your claim, if any, to the said lands, or prevent such proposed action on my part.

DATED at the Land Registry Office, Prince Rupert, B. C., this 19th day of August, A. D. 1919.

H. F. MACLEOD, District Registrar of Titles.

To Robert J. Abbott, Esq., Prince Rupert, B. C.
