

Muscovites To Country

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW — Moving to a summer place in the country appeals to a great many Muscovites and this is the time of the year for the exodus.
The word for summer house is dacha. Caravans of trucks piled high with house furnishings move out of the city to the summer places. The demand is so great at the height of the move you have to order a truck in advance.
There are dozens of electric railways that branch out from the city for 40 or 50 miles in every direction. Wage earners commute between their jobs and the country.

Gardening is a popular summer activity—and those without a country plot cultivate patches of land around the city's outskirts.
It has been a cold, wet spring—one of the latest in a long time. But warm, sunny weather came suddenly and there was a mad rush to buy seeds and garden tools.
SOCCER POPULAR
Sports fans have a busy time in the summer. Football (soccer) attracts thousands of Muscovites. About 80,000 fans crowd into Dynamo Stadium on a Sunday.
With the Russians participating in the Olympic games, it is almost certain the Soviet Union will put in a big as host city at a future date. Everyone expects the Russians will announce plans soon for a new big stadium with surrounding grounds to take care of Olympic attendance.

Horse racing draws many Muscovites who want to place a bet. In the fall and winter this is confined to trotting races, but in the summer the crowds at Moscow Citadel (Hippodrome) get a chance to watch the gallopers.
There are always the beautiful "white nights" of the Russian summer, whether in the city or at a summer house. Newspapers can be read out in the open up until 10 p.m. The sky from 11 p.m. to 3 a.m. is blue-white, the kind of color used in the paintings of Maxfield Parrish.
LONDON (CP)—Six million books were given a spring-cleaning at the British Museum. The job included cleaning books that filled a total of 25 miles of shelves.
The Union of South Africa has 10 licensed broadcasting stations controlled by the South African Broadcasting Corporation.

Blackwood on Bridge

Mr. Champion chose the 10 of hearts for his opening lead against this Mrs. Keen promptly won hearts—though she could have won it with the jack.

South dealer		North-South vulnerable

1 S Pass 2 D Pass
3 NT All pass

Mr. New, the eager kibitzer, was watching the game as usual and he turned to Mr. Masters who was standing nearby and asked: "Why did she do that? Did she make an error?"
"Far from it," replied Mr. Masters. "She made a very fine play." He motioned Mr. New over to a table in the corner where he could explain the real thrill behind Mrs. Keen's apparent extravagance.
"That," continued Mr. Masters, "was an unblocking play. One reason for such a play is to arrange for an entry into your partner's hand. Mrs. Keen has two sure tricks in spades, two in hearts and one in clubs. Now if she can be sure of taking four tricks in diamonds, that will be enough for her contract.
"The diamonds are solid except for the ace, but Mr. Meek will almost surely refuse to take the first diamond trick. And if he does hold off, how will Mrs. Keen get to the dummy to run her diamonds after they are set up?"
"If she wins the first trick with the jack of hearts she won't have a chance. That would leave her with the lone ace of hearts. Don't you see that she can make her contract an absolutely sure thing by getting that ace out of the way at the first opportunity?"
ENTER THE JACK
"She will go to work on the diamonds at the second trick, leading them until Mr. Meek plays his ace. After that, nine tricks will immediately be available. Mrs. Keen will have the jack of hearts to lead to dummy's king for cashing the rest of the diamonds."
Mr. Masters and Mr. New returned to the table just in time to see the score entered—100 points for three no trump and 700 for the rubber. If Mrs. Keen had failed to unblock the ace of hearts at trick one, the score would have been somewhat different. In fact, it would have been entered in an entirely different column on the score-sheet.

Firemen won their second straight softball game Saturday night by shutting out the Hawks 10 to 0.
Play was highlighted by the season's first home run, a grand slam by Carlson.
For four innings it was the best game of the season with both Art Olson and Teddy Sedgwick getting great support.
Firemen scored first in the bottom of the fourth when Ray Spring was safe on an error and scored on Rothwell's double.
Hawks threatened in the top of the fifth but a great throw by Jack Sharp from left field out down Ted Sedgwick at the plate and saved Olsen's shut-out.
In the last of the fifth the roof fell in on the Hawks as the Snokies scored nine runs on three hits and seven walks. Olson and Morrison walked to start the inning and Llewellyn forced Olson at second. Sharp then walked to load the sacks. Spring fanned and there were two out. Carlson then broke up the game with his terrific four-bagger. Whattam was on via an error, then walks to Rothwell, Baker and Olson forced in another run. Morrison singled and Llewellyn tripled to bring the total to 10.

Football Game Is Postponed

Last evening's scheduled football game in the North Star trophy was postponed on account of wet grounds. The next fixture on Wednesday will bring the Heavy Battery and Canadian Legion together. So far the Battery has an unbeaten record but the Legion has been building up a team that hopes to upset the gunners' record.

Exhibition Ball Games

CLEVELAND — Pittsburgh Pirates outslugged Cleveland Indians 9 to 5 here last night in a charity exhibition before 8,568 fans with Wally Westlake and Erv Dusak homering for five of the Pirates' runs.
Southpaw Dick Rozek was victim of Westlake's three-run homer in the first inning and of Dusak's second inning round tripper.
Johnny Van de Meer permitted two more Pittsburgh runs on two hits in the next three innings.
In New York the Boston Red Sox staged a three-run rally in the eighth inning to stop the New York Giants in an exhibition game at Polo Grounds.
Buddy Rosar's pinch hit single off Roger Bowman with bases loaded clinched matters for the American Leaguers.
Ted Williams singled in Johnny Pesko in the ninth for additional insurance.
