

CEASE FIRE CONFERENCE IN CRISIS

Manpower Shortage As Province Booms

Immigration May Be Solution—Central B.C. Taking Them On

VANCOUVER (CP)—Booming British Columbia, on the threshold of a vast expansion program, is men to relieve its industrial growing pains. Industry is eyeing the labor markets of both Eastern Canada and other lands for skilled and semi-skilled workers.

That was the report this week William McKinstry, regional superintendent of the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Some of the most acute shortages are in the pulp and paper industry, he said. One large B.C. firm now has a representative in the United Kingdom trying to recruit men. Other firms are looking for workers in the prairie provinces.

The mining industry is maintaining too. Vancouver Island mines, which recently resumed selling coal to Japan and other countries, have been hiring more men. In B.C.'s interior, the Bulkley Valley colonies at Telkwa are working to capacity.

Shortages of miners in the coal, base metal and gold fields have existed for several months, and clearance orders have been issued for 80 miners from the coast.

LCAN DRAIN
The start of a $550,000,000 Aluminum Company of Canada project in the Tweedsmuir Park area has been another drain on manpower.

Mr. McKinstry said logging camps and mills—the backbone of B.C.'s economy—are having difficulty keeping full crews, and the construction industry is using more men.

Those machine shops and industries not restricted by steel shortages need workers and demand for machinists and lathe men is far in excess of present supply.

Shipyard employment has been increasing gradually and other labor shortage is expected to develop there as the navy expands its building program. Mr. McKinstry said "preliminary discussions already have been held with representatives of a major yard to explore the possibilities of immigration."

Canada Must Not Soften

OTTAWA (CP)—Reporting on the over-provoked expansion of this program, Defence Minister Brooke Claxton reiterated his statement that "the end of aggression in Korea, if and when it takes place, must not lead us through a false sense of security to relax our efforts."

"Success in Korea," said the minister, "far from diminishing the need for strength, has shown that we must never again disarm the face of a potential aggressor who remains fully armed."

"That is why we must continue this combined effort to deter aggression by building up and keeping up our strength."

Mr. Claxton, reporting on Canada's effort in Korea, said three destroyers there have steamed since as far as they did during the war. Canada's units of the three services had acquitted themselves gallantly. Her expenditure of effort and money had been "tremendous."

New Deal In Spain

Franco Tightening Relations With West—King to be Named

MADRID (CP)—General Francisco Franco appointed a new government tonight to tighten relations with the west and put a new king on Spain's throne. The new government is overwhelmingly monarchist in composition and a completely reliable source said that the dictator had told the new ministers: "This government will carry out the restoration of the monarchy."

Franco is also said to have advised them of his intention of tightening Spain's relations with the western democracies, especially the United States.

Resurrected—Died Again

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (CP)—Two Port Colborne doctors brought a five-year-old boy back to life Wednesday after he had been apparently dead for four minutes.

The boy, Ronald Leoline, collapsed under an anaesthetic which was administered in preparation for a tonsillectomy.

"He was dead," said Dr. Ewen Mackenzie Jr. "There wasn't a heart beat for four minutes."

A three-inch incision was made in the wall of the boy's chest. Dr. Mackenzie put his hand in, pulled back a rib and reached his heart which he massaged for twelve seconds until it began to beat again.

Many hours later the boy, however, died after his heart stopped again. He failed to regain consciousness.

Love Bandit is Arrested

Princess is Streamline

LONDON (AP)—Princess Elizabeth's new streamlined look was explained by court circles today—she has been on a rigid diet since May.

The Princess began putting on weight after the birth of her second child, Princess Anne, last August 15th.

By January her appearance was not far short of what, in a commoner, might have been called "pleasingly plump." There are rumors that a joking about that time by her husband, Prince Philip, decided her to do something about it. Her reported goal was to lose 20 pounds.

Since then she has frequently been heard turning down the richer foods at official dinners with, "No thanks, I'm on a diet."

Buckingham Palace declined to say how much weight the princess has lost or what diet she has followed.

The Princess and Philip are to tour Canada for three weeks in September.

Rain Washes Out Edmonton Racing

EDMONTON (CP)—Remainder of a scheduled seven-race card was cancelled after the first race here yesterday when jockeys refused to continue riding on Edmonton's Exhibition track which was turned into a sea of mud by early morning torrential rains.

Two horses fell and another stumbled in the first race, unseating their riders. No one was injured.

Track officials declared the track unsafe after jockeys protested at further riding.

Coast Liner All But Out of Sight at Low Tide of Year

As Capt. E. B. Caldwell brought his Canadian National Railway cruise ship alongside the dock here shortly after 8 o'clock this morning, he observed that it was the lowest tide he had ever seen at Prince Rupert in the many years he has been running in here.

The big ship seemed insignificant as her massive bulk lay below the dock level.

The plank had been put out from the boat deck level which is just below the bridge.

The official tide book confirmed that it was an extremely low tide—the lowest of the year, in fact—0.2 feet at 8:50 (daylight) time, about twenty minutes after the George docked.

Deadlock is Continuing Over Troop Withdrawal

MUNSAN, Korea (CP)—The cease-fire talks to end the Korean war reached a crisis today at Kaesong over the issue of withdrawal of "foreign" troops from Korea. The Communists are demanding this but the United Nations contend it is a political question not within the purview of the conference.

An Allied spokesman said today that the talks would end if the Communist attitude was not changed.

An official communique said tonight that "no progress" was made at the seventh session of the cease-fire talks today.

The statement indicated that the United Nations and Communist delegations were still deadlocked, presumably over the question of the withdrawal of the foreign troops from Korea. The statement said that both United Nations and Communist delegations held to their original views "on the question under debate."

An announcement said that Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, head of the United Nations delegation, reiterated the UN stand that only matters of military nature would be discussed.

After a 30-minute recess, the negotiators went back into session and remained in conference through the noon hour.

Joy was smiling when the delegates adjourned for the day in contrast with his brusque attitude at the end of Wednesday's meetings.

General Matthew Ridgway, chief of the United Nations forces, was in Tokyo today from Kaesong.

Police said the man was being held for investigation and was suspected to have been the phantasm-like bandit who has been operating here for the last four years. He has been particularly active of late.

Detectives' files include reports on 30 cases believed to have been the work of the bandit. Some include criminal assault, police said.

Capture resulted when a man was seen climbing a ladder outside the window of the suite of Mrs. Vera Teasdale at 1866 West Twelfth.

Might Have Known Much

One of Mysteriously Missing Britons, Had Been Private Secretary to Cabinet Minister

LONDON (CP)—Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison told the House of Commons Wednesday that the missing diplomat, Guy Burgess, was private secretary to a cabinet minister for almost two years before his promotion to the Far Eastern Affairs Division of the Foreign Office.

Morrison said that Burgess was private secretary to Hector McNeill, now Secretary of State for Scotland.

The Foreign Secretary was replying to a question by Major Ernest G. Lloyd, Conservative member for Renfrew East, who asked for the circumstances of Burgess' appointment.

Burgess and Donald McLean disappeared last May from their Foreign Office jobs and have not been heard from since.

Some western circles fear they may have gone behind the Iron Curtain with valuable secrets.

Proceeding With Apt.

Alterations to the former U.S. Army administration building on First Avenue to provide 32 apartments are proceeding. Bert Blair is in charge of construction for the owner, Northern Properties Limited.

Management and operation on completion will be handled by the agent for the owner, Boulbee, Sweet & Company Ltd.

Substrate is being carried out by Ernie Sinclair, painting, Prince Rupert Plumbing and Heating, and roofing, T. Woodward Roofing and Sheet Metal Company of Vancouver.

The two-storey frame building measuring 130 by 250 feet has four wings each 50 by 75 feet. The units will vary from bachelor suites to two-bedroom apartments. Suites will be rented as soon as each wing is completed and it is hoped the first occupants will move in around September 1.

Architect for the project, to cost approximately $100,000, is Samuel Collins, Vancouver.

B.C. Packers Is Expanding

VANCOUVER (CP)—In annual report of the British Columbia Packers, President J. M. Buchanan noted that the company had made two moves to establish interest on the east coast.

The firm entered Nova Scotia fishing operations and a small storage plant had begun in New York City.

Consolidated net income of the company was $1,894,000 after depreciation of $990,000, debt interest of $69,000 and income taxes of $1,989,000.
