

Had Eczema Around Ankles For Years

Read Her Letter
"I want to say that for many years I have been tormented with Eczema on my ankles which nothing seemed to cure," writes Mrs. A. C. S. Whittier, Calif. "Moone's Emerald Oil was recommended and one bottle was all I needed, and for two months has seemed perfectly well."
This clean, stainless antiseptic known all over Canada as Moone's Emerald Oil, is such a remarkable healing agent that Eczema, Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum, Itching Toes and Feet—many of them old stubborn cases of long standing, have yielded to its influence. Moone's Emerald Oil is obtainable wherever drugs are sold, to help rid you of unsightly skin troubles.

Hetland-Carlson Rites In Large Wedding Here

A largely attended wedding took place in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Prince Rupert, Saturday, when Miss Thelma Muriel Hetland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Hetland, 735 Alfred Street, became the bride of Gordon Ernest Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Carlson of the Steele Block, Prince Rupert.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white satin floor length dress with finger-tip sleeves and long veil with satin appliques and a pearl-beaded headress. She carried a white prayer book with mauve orchids and lily-of-the-valley tied in long white satin streamers.

The maid of honor was Miss Elaine Steffens who wore a blue tulle-nylon net dress. Bridesmaids were Louise Hetland, sister of the bride, who wore mauve taffeta, and cousins Marlys Olson, who wore pink satin with net overskirt, and Helen Olson, who wore Nile green taffeta. All wore matching headress with short veils and carried mixed flower nosegays.

Sask. New-Weds Reside Burns Lake

A wedding of interest to residents of the northern interior where the newly-weds will reside, took place recently at St. Walburg, Saskatchewan, when Miss M. C. Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lewchuk, of St. Walburg, became the bride of Alexander Guzyk, son of George Guzyk, also of St. Walburg. The wedding ceremony followed the rites of the Greek Orthodox Church with Rev. L. Boskorovonoff officiating. Music was by the church choir.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length white satin brocade gown with floor-length veil and carried a bouquet of red roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Bridal attendants were the bride's sister, Miss Valentina Lewchuk, and Miss Isobel Zalay. Miss Lewchuk wore a pink satin gown with a headpiece of pink roses and veil and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Her corsage was of pink sweet peas. Miss Zalay wore a yellow net gown with a headpiece of yellow roses and veil. Her corsage was of yellow sweet peas.

Groomsmen were Nick Lewchuk and Eddie Mack. Ushers were Mrs. Valentine Hreljuk and Mr. K. Tralzuk. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, the bride's mother wearing a grey dress and a pink carnation corsage. The bride's going-away costume was a navy suit with white accessories.

The wedding trip was to Vancouver and on their return they will reside at Burns Lake.

Hilda Skinner Is Recognized

London Pays Attention To Only Woman Trapper

Letters from Mrs. Hilda Chichester Skinner of Copper City who is visiting in the Old Country continue to contain many items of interest. These deal with many different phases of life, visits to Madame Tussaud's famous waxworks where the figure of General MacArthur surprised her with its "fine, beautiful, sensitive" face, characteristics that she had not expected to find so delicately modelled. A contrivance that told one's fortune when one's hand was inserted, was tried with considerable scepticism, and found to be surprisingly correct.

For treatment of her hand Mrs. Skinner had gone to the orthopedic hospital in Great Portland Street where Mr. James, a noted surgeon, operated. She is very enthusiastic about the skill and the attention given there.

On the lighter side, the letters tell of visits to the National Gallery and the marvellous paintings on display as well as various types of armour, pistols and other firearms. The Tower of London had its special appeal but she did not see the crown jewels as there was a long queue awaiting. London is very crowded with the Festival of Britain drawing visitors from all over the world.

A personal note refers to a visit to see the house where she was born. The house escaped the devastation of bombing that levelled most of the area. And a word of caution is interjected if one has to deal with the landladies of London. One's wits get considerably sharpened in dealing with them.

ONLY WOMAN TRAPPER

A visit to Beaver House, headquarters of the Hudson's Bay

Company, was an event that caused almost a sensation among the staff when, in reply to her question if they had had many real trappers visit their fur exhibits, they said "no" and she informed them that they were looking at one now, "the only white woman with a registered trapline in B.C." That statement opened the doors and a senior employee was assigned the duty of introducing Mrs. Skinner to all the heads of the various departments. Finally she met Sir Patrick Ashley Cooper, the governor of the company.

But the highlight was the visit to the huge vaults where the furs are stored, all kinds of skins from all parts of the world. The section containing the B.C. furs was her objective and the well-known aroma made her feel almost back home. They had a huge stock of beaver skins. She was greatly impressed with the treatment accorded to Russian grey squirrel furs. They are plucked, treated and dyed until they look the most rare and expensive furs. The Russian sables did not strike her as being at all equal to the Copper River colors or dark martens.

Prices of furs for the next season promise to be good.

As a result of her visit to the Hudson's Bay headquarters she received a request from the BBC to broadcast but doubts as to whether she will be able to accede to their wishes.

She was able to give the officials at the Beaver House up-to-date and informative details as to fur-trapping methods in British Columbia. Many of their ideas were antiquated. But then it is not often that they have a visit from a real trapper with first-hand knowledge of the industry.

Telephone Operator Married in Calgary

A Calgary wedding of interest here joined in marriage Miss Edna Elva Gardner, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gardner, formerly at Prince Rupert, and Lloyd John Milton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Milton of Edmonton. The wedding ceremony was conducted by Rev. Haworth.

The bride looked lovely in her grey suit with pink accessories. Her only attendant was Miss Garnett McCready, who looked charming in a navy blue suit with light blue accessories. The best man was Frank Taylor of Calgary.

A small reception was held at the home of the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Milton, 1132 Fifth Ave. N.W., where relatives and friends gathered to wish the happy couple many years of happiness. The bride was formerly a member of the local telephone office and later with the Hudson's Bay cosmetic department in Calgary.

The groom was in service with the Canadian Navy and was a member of the crew of HMCS Cayuga, having seen service in Korea.

The happy couple, after a few days in Banff and Lake Louise, will make their home in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

BEXHILL, England (C)—Jimmy Coulter, 11, entered a Highland dancing competition here "just for the fun of it." He won the gold medal, first time in 135 years that it has been awarded a boy.
