All Night Debate on Treaty of Peace in the Commons; the Amendment Defeated

W.S. Fielding wishes to add to Resolution that Autonomous Authority of Dominion Should not be Affected; Was Voted down on Straight Party Lines.

(Special to The News via G. T. P. Telegraphs.)

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—Throughout the night and until early morning the debate on the Peace Treaty continued in the House of Commons.

In the afternoon the first amendment to the motion of Sir Robert Borden "that Parliament do approve of the Treaty of Peace between the allied and the associated powers and Germany."

An amendment was introduced by W. S. Fielding that this clause be added to the resolution: "That in giving such approval the House in no way assents to any impairment of existing autonomous authority of the Dominion but declares that what part, if any, the forces of Canada shall take in any war, actual or threatened, is one to be determined at all times by the people of Canada through representatives in Parliament."

Colonel C. W. Peck, V. C., asked if Canada's sacrifices in the field had not given her rights at the Peace Conference and if Canada had no concern in the settlement.

Mr. Fielding replied that "our sacrifices had not given us any claim to make ourselves ridiculous by pretending to deal with affairs of which we knew nothing."

"The bonds of Empire," said Col. Peck, "are not created by laws or statutes. They exist in the hearts of freedom." He regarded the League of Nations as a great step towards perfect Christianity.

The House divided at 1:15 a. m. on the Fielding amendment with the result, against 102, for 70, majority against the amendment, 32. It was a straight party vote with no switches.

Sir Robert Borden's motion was then declared carried.

LARGE CROWD AT THE RINK LAST NIGHT

Expected that Record Attendance For Crowning Piece of the Chautauqua Festival Will be Tonight.

The second day of the Chautauqua, like the first, was an unqualified success. There was a large crowd at the Skating Rink last night to hear the remarkable lecture of Captain Wood Briggs and the music of the Chautauqua Artists' Trio, both of which captivated the audience and were given fine receptions.

Captain Briggs is a born story teller, and while his lecture last night was of a somewhat serious nature, yet it was interspersed and enlivened here and there with anecdotes and brightened with original turns that kept the audience on tiptoe. The whole tone of the entertainment was high-class.

The musical numbers were excellent and especially the young lady who played the xylophone. She is but sixteen years of age, yet she has been playing the instrument for the last ten years and is now a master of the art.

Tonight is to be the crowning piece of the festival. The Serbian Tamburica Orchestra has not yet been heard here. It is reputed to be a fine musical organization and gives a concert that everyone will enjoy. Those who have not yet attended any of the entertainments of the Chautauqua should certainly go tonight. It will be the last opportunity to enjoy one of the high-class entertainments of the festival.

This afternoon Miss Attiyeah is lecturing on Turkish Customs and the Craven Company is giving one of its inimitable concerts.

PRETTY DANCE IN HONOR OF VISITORS

Chautauqua Performers Entertained at St. Andrew's Hall Last Evening.

There was a very pretty dance last night at the St. Andrew's hall given in honor of the visiting Chautauquans and a very enjoyable time was spent. A commencement was made immediately after the closing of the Chautauqua entertainment at the rink, Harvey's orchestra providing the music.

Prominent among the dancers were Miss Mason, advance agent of the Chautauquans, and Capt. Wood Briggs.

Supper was served shortly after midnight and dancing was kept up until well on into the morning.

The members of the Chautauqua executive who were responsible for the happy idea are to be congratulated on the success of the event.

LOST LEG AS THE RESULT OF AN ACCIDENT

Ernest Vaughan, Engineer on the G. T. P., had Close Call Last Night.

As a result of an accident late last night Ernest Vaughan, an engineer on the G. T. P., lost a leg and came near losing his life. He was walking in front of his engine when his foot caught in a frog. With great presence of mind he realized his position and threw himself clear of the rails, the engine passing over his ankle.

After the accident Mr. Vaughan still kept his head and directed the men who came to his aid where and how to apply a tourniquet in order to stop the bleeding. A taxi was called and he was rushed to the hospital where shortly after midnight the leg was amputated.

Mr. Vaughan is well known all up the line between here and Prince George. Besides being an engineer he is an expert piano tuner and acts as tuner for the Prince Rupert Music Store. His wife who is now in Seattle taught dancing here during last winter under her maiden name of Miss Mona Bushnell.

OFFICIAL IS VISITING CITY

H. Hulatt, Manager of G. T. P. Telegraphs, Sees Road to Real Prosperity.

H. Hulatt, manager of telegraphs for the Grand Trunk Pacific Railways, with headquarters in Montreal, Que., accompanied by W. J. Rooney, division superintendent of telegraphs in charge of lines in Alberta and British Columbia, arrived in the city yesterday and registered at the Hotel Prince Rupert.

Mr. Hulatt is on a trip of inspection and has visited all the important prairie cities. He states that he is much pleased with business conditions and is returning east much more optimistic regarding general prospects. While undoubtedly the most urgent matter in order to restore normal conditions, is for the government to take drastic action to reduce the cost of living, yet there is an undoubted obligation on the part of all citizens to do their utmost to increase production, and this can only be brought about by the co-operation of sane labor and sane capitalists. Extremists, either on the side of labor or capital, should be told plainly that if they want to enjoy real prosperity and freedom they must mend their ways and "get on the rope."

Mr. Hulatt, prior to being transferred in 1915 to Montreal to assume his present position, was commercial and traffic superintendent of the G. T. P. Telegraph Co. located at Winnipeg, and is widely known throughout western Canada.

Boston, Sept. 12.—Action by the central labor union tonight deferred the danger of a general strike of united labor in sympathy with the striking policemen. It did not, however, entirely dissipate that danger.

Boston, Sept. 12.—(Noon). Seven thousand state troops are patrolling the city. The governor of Massachusetts is in control and quiet has been restored pending a decision as to a general strike.

HUNTERS ARE READY FOR THE FRAY TOMORROW

Season Opens With Plenty of Game and Prospects of Large Bags are Good.

Once more the opening day of the hunting season approaches. Tomorrow will see many heading forth for distant shores and favorite spots where in days of yore they have been favored by perhaps catching a glimpse of the fleeting two-year-old buck. That spirit of adventure and of expectation which creeps upon the solitary hunter as he toils through the underbrush returns, and in the evenings he takes down the good old "thirty-thirty" and starts oiling her up. All the parts are taken apart and carefully examined and the barrel polished to rustless bright. Perhaps, too, the trophies of other expeditions are looked at and the memories of former thrilling episodes spur him on to the warpath.

The duck hunters are just as much excited for they will have the opportunity of putting into practise all those schemes for blinds which had been discussed with cronies during the summer months. He hurries away in his launch to get to the head of that particularly secretive inlet where he is sure the mallard abounds. The little skiff is towed behind for it is in this that he intends to get the winged prize as they fly out of the inlet overhead. The shot gun has been taken down from the rack in the attic and stands alongside an outfit kit in all readiness for the owner when he has finished up his business on Saturday afternoon.

Persons in authority report that deer and duck are both very plentiful in the vicinity this season.
