Mothers, Dads Back at School

Teachers and children were hosts this week to parents at Seal Cove and Conrad Street schools as mothers and dads were back Giske, after cutting cards with at school for an hour during open

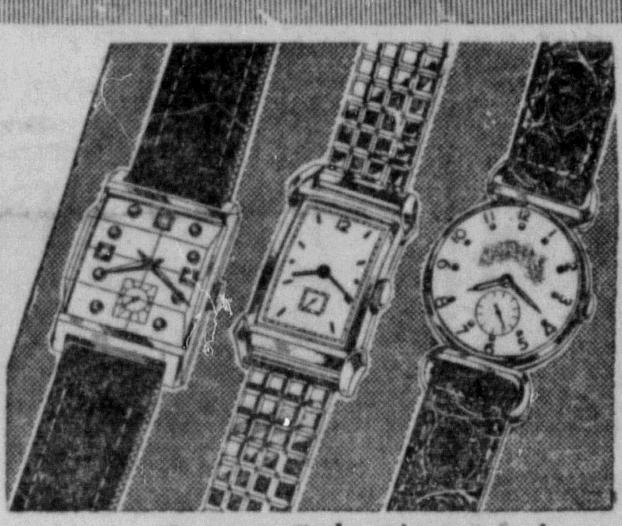

Wednesday afternoon, Seal Cove school received 50 visitors, and the following day 143 parents visited Conrad Street, Lessons were read and poetry and song recitations were presented by the children, following which tea was served.

Parents expressed appreciation Christiansen and B. Bakken. of good work done in preparing the old Seal Cove school for classrooms and felt that the new proposed Gyro playground there would be very beneficial.

In both schools, parents commended teachers for the work in organizing an open house and in meeting the teachers, felt much benefit would be derived from closer relationship between home and school.

Tea, at Seal Cove was convened by Mrs. Joe Kurdziel, assisted by Mrs. L. Sykes and Mrs. James Miller. At Conrad Street school, Mrs. Jean Murdock convened over refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Harold Thom, Mrs. T. Bussanich and Mrs. William David
