When a Bargain is Not a Bargain
A man who got a lot more than he bargained for when he bought two sheds from the municipal government is trying desperately to unload the "extras." The fair, city businessman, recently purchased the sheds, just off Second Avenue and Third Street, "where is, as is" basis.

On Saturday, Mr. Mair inspected the buildings and found them "jammed to the gills" with odds and ends of everything about includes everything in the collection are as men's and women's shoes, stacks of umbrellas, loads of old clothes and jugs; old stoves and miscellaneous ware; 40-gallon wooden boxes and a huge pile of other items too numerous to mention. "I don't know if anyone has any use for them," said Mr. Mair, and hopes someone will take on his offer.

Canadians Staff Single Station Serving Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda—Gerry Wilnot manages the only radio station on the tiny island of Bermuda, where a leisurely pace is followed amid the flowering hibiscus and oleander hedges. The Bermuda leisure doesn't apply to everything around the radio station, of course. It has to work on program schedules like any other outlet. Broadcasting on 1240 kilocycles with 250 watt power, ZBM brings news and entertainment to Bermudians and their cosmopolitan visitors.

Five Canadians are working at the radio station, including Wilnot, former war correspondent of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. The station has up-to-date equipment and a library which includes a collection of calypso songs that many a station would envy. ZBM is the only station in the world, outside of the United States and Canada or their possessions, that is affiliated with the U.S. networks, ABC and Mutual.

Its role means of revenue is commercial advertising. Strangely enough, Bermuda had an annual radio licence fee of about $1.50 in former years, but since it got its own radio station the licence fee has been abolished.

WAR VETERANS
Chief announcer is Bill Williamson of Hamilton, Ontario. Attached to the Royal Canadian Navy during the war, Bill worked in Ottawa radio for four years following his discharge. Among other programs he handles the nightly "Welcome Visitors" program.

Walt Staskow of Toronto started in radio in Stratford, Ont., in 1940. He joined the army in 1941 and worked with army radio before going to the British Broadcasting Corporation in England, from where he came to Bermuda.

Miss Bette Morrison, a former Winnipeg girl now in charge of traffic and scripts, also does some programs. She was well known in Toronto radio circles and decided to remain here after coming for a holiday.

The fifth Canadian is W. A. (Bud) Pearson, 21, originally from New Brunswick. He also came on a visit, since his married sister lives in Bermuda, but he tried out for an announcer's position and was promptly accepted.

HE SANG, TOO
Johann Sebastian Bach, one of the world's great composers, was noted for a beautiful soprano voice in his youth.

Old Timers Re-Visit Early Pioneer Home

Interested visitors to the city last week were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Scott of Beverly Hills, California, who enjoyed looking over Prince Rupert where they lived in 1910 and '11. Mr. Scott first opened the Wallace store, in partnership with Mr. Wallace.

Upon their arrival on the steamer Prince George, the Scotts had the pleasure of meeting Mr. G. W. Nickerson and Mr. Ewan McAulay, with whom they were well acquainted in the early days.

On their return south, Mr. and Mrs. Scott entertained Mr. C. L. Youngman at dinner on the ship. Mr. Scott used to share bachelor apartment with Mr. Youngman, and related early experiences of early business trade in Prince Rupert.

Mrs. Scott resided with her parents at the corner of Eighth Avenue and McBride Street, but when she again saw that corner she didn't recognize it, for the house was no longer there and the plank walk long ago had been replaced with a modern city street.

The Scotts, who make their home in Beverly Hills, were amazed at the progress in Prince Rupert as they recalled the days when they used to carry their own lantern while making their way around to attend community gatherings, which then were the mainstay of social life.

Home in Woods Natural Foods Beats Housing

BOLTON, Ont. (CP)—The housing problem doesn't bother Art Scoville, Olympic runner of the 1920's who has left both the running track and the beaten track far behind.

Art took to the woods near this town and pays a farmer $1 a year for rental of a wooden shack in the banks of the Humbler, not far from Toronto. He and his Collie pup live there all year round.

His few wants are provided by nature. He traps and fishes, has an ample supply of wild berries and makes his own maple syrup. During his 20-year stay in the woods he has acquired wide knowledge of wildlife and woodlore.

He earns enough money for his few needs from civilization by helping district farmers during harvest season and by selling skunk oil to stable hands for $1 a quart. The oil is one ingredient in a rub-down mixture for horses. Art, incidentally, found that skunk stew, flavored with wild carrot, is as "tasty" as rabbit.

FORMER ATHLETE
The woodsman, known here as the "hermit," won early fame as an athlete. He ran in the 1920 Olympic five-mile event and in 1928 defeated the famous Indian runner, Tom Longboat, at Scarborough Beach, Toronto.
