PRICE BATTLE ON—Manufacturers may look on it as an unhappy omen. Store-owners may wonder where their customers have gone. For Canadian women have begun dieging in on the home front in the battle against high prices.

Initiated by one of the leading women's organizations, the National Council of Women, this move to combat high prices with thrift has already received the support of serious-minded housewives in all parts of the country.

At Ottawa recently the Local Council of Women was told that a successful thrift campaign would be more effective in curbing inflation than price controls. Further, it would save the government the cost of subsidies.

"We are not asking you to stop all spending," said Mrs. G. D. Finlayson, first vice-president of the National Council. "Just slow it down."

She said women must learn to cut out the non-essentials, defer replacements as long as possible, and give careful thought to their needs, rather than their wants.

C.A.C. JOINS

The 12,000-member Canadian Association of Consumers has lent its support to the campaign. In the latest issue of the C.A.C. bulletin readers are urged to buy the best quality, at the best price.

The C.A.C. also gently chides women buyers for chasing bargains. "No purchase is a bargain if we really do not need it," it says.

Finally, the bulletin introduces a few economical recipes as one practical way the housewife can practice what it preaches.

PEANUT-STUFFED PEPPERS

Ingredients: six green peppers, one tablespoon melted fat, one-half cup uncooked rice, one-half cup minced onion, one-half cup chopped celery, 1½ teaspoons salt, one cup water, two cups cooked or canned tomatoes with juice, one cup chopped salted peanuts, crumbs mixed with melted fat (to sprinkle over the top of the stuffed peppers).

Prepare peppers by cutting off stems and removing seeds. Cook five minutes in boiling salted water.

Make stuffing by combining in frying-pan melted fat, rice, onion, celery and salt. Add water slowly as mixture begins to cook. Cover pan and simmer five to 10 minutes. Add tomatoes and juice and simmer 10 minutes longer until rice is almost done. Add more liquid if needed, then stir in the chopped peanuts.

File this stuffing into the peppers and set them upright in a pan. Muffin-tins are useful if they won't stand upright. Sprinkle crumbs on top of each pepper and put a little hot water in the tin with each pepper. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F) for 30 to 40 minutes.

THRIFT HINTS

Newspaper can be used for kindling. A sheet of newspaper rolled up tightly from corner to corner and then twisted makes a better fire-lighter than kindling wood. Three or four will light an open fire or kitchen grate.

Finally, don't use those fruit baskets for kindling. Sell them back to your fruit store.

Rotarians Get Census Request

A city request for assistance in another census survey was referred by Rotarians at luncheon yesterday to directors. George Mitchell said it looked like a big job and thought directors should decide on it.

T. Norton Youngs said a "name" census might reveal "quite a few" people had not been counted. If other service clubs supported a re-counting, he thought Rotarians should also help.

Mr. Youngs also reported that a variety concert in aid of Canada's blind, would be held December 9 in the evening.

Guests at the luncheon were John Bowson, Gordon Tod, Dave Radford, and Ernie Carswell, all of Vancouver.

superb. When critics say she does not only act Madame Butterfly, but is Madame Butterfly, they are right. In colorful Geisha girl costume, she captured the mood perfectly, her voice was always sure, rendering pathos, sorrow, coyness and lusty happiness in simple and honest interpretation.

There was no doubt, though, that this striking personality with "the voice" fulfilled her promise to the public by her solo, beginning with the sophisticated "Les Filles de Cadix" and ending with the tantalizing, almost naughty "My Dear Marquis." Schubert's "Ave Maria" was sung in piety in the original German but a quick transformation was made by her next number in the gaiety of the "American Lullaby." Her encore was a Japanese folk song of a religious ritual on the island of Matsushima.

The program ended fittingly and to much enjoyment of the audience with duo selections from popular musicals, such as Jerome Kern's "Showboat," and "Roberta" and Romberg's "New Moon."

Here Mme. Kanazawa and Mr. Curzi teamed up to give their best in duet with familiar "Only Make Believe," "One Kiss," and "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," ending with Lehár's "In Marsovia" (from "Merry Widow"), and the rollicking "Street Song" from "Naughty Marietta" as an encore.
