Dress Designer Gains New Fame For Royal Garb

LONDON (CP) — Hardy Amies, London couturier chosen by Princess Elizabeth to design some of the clothes she will wear on the Canadian tour with Prince Philip, is drawing much comment from London fashion writers.

One of the youngest of London's "Big Ten" of fashion, he has long been a favorite with Canadian buyers and the sudden royal patronage gives added interest to his background.

Just turned 40, clean-shaven and dark-haired, this six-foot bachelor started his designing career by a turn of fate experienced by few.

Early familiar with the inside of a fashion salon through the employment of his mother by a court dressmaker, Amies met the wife of a director of Lachasse—another of the Big Ten—and gave such a graphic description of her dress that it was later relayed to the lady concerned.

As a result Hardy Amies succeeded Digby Morton as designer to Lachasse when Morton retired to start his own salon.

With no training to guide his early career, Amies became part of the world of silks and satins—and still laughs at his own sketches. His cutters complain they are "more like blueprints." They have, however, one advantage. The designer fears nothing from dress pirates.

"If anyone can copy my sketches," he said, "I'd like to employ them myself to help me."

By-Election Is Necessary

A by-election will be required by statute to choose a successor to George Weston Rudderham who died yesterday. The Municipal Act calls for the holding of nominations within thirty days of a vacancy with an election within six days thereafter.

Needy Served Free at Market

VICTORIA, B.C. (CP) — Mrs. Barbara Green has set up a stall in city market where she distributes donated foodstuffs to needy persons, without charge.

She says the plan in which commercial firms are co-operating has proved successful, and she would like to see it operated in other cities.

Cards are distributed to eligible persons by the city welfare department and nearly all have been used to get supplies from Mrs. Green's stall.

In one day Boy Scouts delivered 15 hampers filled with fruit, meat, home baking, butter, eggs and other goods. About 600 pounds of tomatoes, 200 pounds of beans, crates of lettuce, watermelons, carrots, apples, cherries, potatoes and other produce were received.

BRIDLINGTON, England (CP) — The youngsters must be taking better care of their bicycles. Out of 80 schoolboys' bikes tested by police only 10 were found unfit for use.
