Farewell To Algy Hunter

On the eve of his retirement, which takes effect from today, A. R. (Algy) Hunter, superintendent of customs examiners, was tendered a complimentary dinner and presentation at the Broadway Cafe on Friday evening by fellow customs and immigration officers and transportation employees.

Under the chairmanship of S. P. Woodside, the evening got off to a happy start with a reception preceding the dinner. After dinner speeches, attesting to the popularity and esteem in which the guest of honor is held, were given by O. I. Smith, collector of customs, E. L. Dale, deputy collector, U. S. Customs, and C. P. Balagno and Howard Hill of the C.P.R. and C.N.R. wharves respectively and James Nicol, Immigration Department. Mr. Hunter responded in his own inimitable manner.

A presentation was made on behalf of the assembled guests by E. J. Ashcroft, junior member of the Customs Staff, of a steamer trunk, photograph of a Prince Rupert scene and a bouquet of spring flowers to Mrs. Hunter.

The evening was rounded off by reminiscing on events in the early days of the city, a number of Scotch songs by the guest of honor and the assemblage all singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Among the invited guests, besides Mr. Hunter, were O. I. Smith, F. W. Grimsble, S. P. Woodside, N. McGlashan, Martin van Cooten, E. J. Ashcroft, J. Wikie, J. W. Davey, J. W. Bowman, S. R. Terdiffe, J. Nicol, W. Lahti, L. Lahti, E. L. Dale, R. Cameron, S. R. Lora, M. H. G. Cameron, R. Dickson, C. P. Balagno, M. Burn, Howard Hill, N. Krook, and O. Wingham.
