Ulysses's Proposal
There is something to be said for the editorial proposal of Ulysses, University of British Columbia student publication...

It is true enough that the primary cause of unrest and wars and rumors of wars today is from the lack of trust—misunderstanding, if you would call it that—between the Soviet and the Western World...

There is reason to believe that Russia is waging an unfair propaganda—a war of nerves—and obviously enough her representatives are not doing a good deal to co-operate so that mutual understanding and trust might be arrived at.

It is elementary that there must be understanding and goodwill before there is peace in the world. The only way of establishing and being assured of good faith is for either side to really know and understand what is going on in the other.

And the only way to do that is to mingle and get together. That is why there is really something to be said for the Ulysses proposal.

Margarine Discrimination
Two of Canada's provinces margarine is banned altogether. In seven, margarine has a color bar. It can only be tinted a pale, insipid ivory.

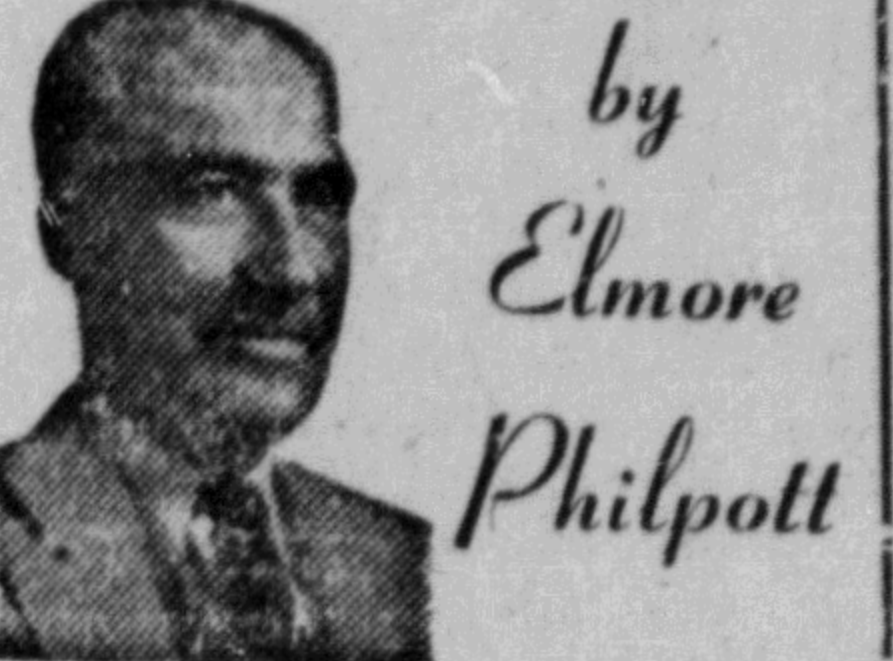

Despite the fact that jams, cheese and many other wholesome food products, including butter, are colored and it is perfectly legal to do so, the people protested that it would be unfair to color margarine.

As I See It

Men of Wax

LONDON.—I got fed up with politics today, not because British politics are any duller than ours, but because I have had too much of them, all in a lump.

So I went to Madame Tussaud's famous waxworks instead to see if it looked as interesting as on my one and only other visit, which was way back in 1915.

RANDY TURPIN is there now, too, standing as large as life but looking about half the size of Joe Louis who is next to him.

Canadians still in the famous showplace are Bonar Law, the only Canadian-born British Prime Minister; Colonel Cecil Merritt, VC, and Barbara Ann Scott.

There seems to me to be a wide variation in the lifelikeness of the figures. The group showing the living members of the Royal Family is superb. But the late King George V is shown as much more anemic looking than I remember him.

THE QUESTION arises about these famous figures: At what age should they be shown?

If a man like George Bernard Shaw rated a place in Tussaud's while still alive, naturally they had to show him as much like he is as possible.

I NOTICED Pitt the Younger Robert Burns and Charles Wilberforce are all shown without any traces of the arthritis from which they all suffered.

These are petty criticisms, registered only to show I really did look carefully and admiringly at the whole works.

I HEAR that the BBC not long ago had stunt men stay the night in the famous chamber of horrors but that even they came out badly shaken.

But you come out of that chamber more cheerful than you go in, in one respect at least. When you see all the old torture instruments and see so many terrible proofs of man's inhumanity to man, you think to yourself in most respects the world has grown better, more humane.

ANYWAY, it's a great show. If they took it on tour and showed it in every great city, they could rake in enough money in America alone to help close that "dollar gap" they talk about.

Reflects and Reminisces

Called Just Once
Doubtless a few more moose stories can be expected in Skeena this year. The last we recall occurred some time ago in New Hazelton.

A battery in Detroit fired a salute of 43 guns when the Princess and Prince spent a day in Windsor (Ontario) across the river.

"About this time of the season in 1926," remarked John Currie, pioneer contractor, Tuesday, "five inches of snow fell in Prince Rupert. I remember it well. And for the rest of the winter, there was no snow whatever."

After filming a play in Africa, Hollywood people are back home, with not even a favorable word about where they were and what they witnessed.

A professor makes bold to observe that most everyone has his share of bad breaks.

Premier Altice is down to make fifty speeches before election day. It is reported he will not speak in Scotland.

A TALK BY TAFT

Senator Robert Taft announces he will be Republican candidate for president next year. He would not be the first President Taft.

LET'S DO SOMETHING

Editor, Daily News: Here's hoping the city council will be able to do something instead of just talk about the deplorable situation of indiscriminate parking all over the city.

Three days have passed since Ald. Black very appropriately— if a little late—brought the matter up and some of the wrecks we still see unmoved.

In fact, passing along McBride Street last night, we saw a new one. This jallopy was even over the curb timber with one front wheel on the already narrow sidewalk.

SAFETY FIRST
He was a portly man with an easy going style and infectious chuckle. This was during the administration of Woodrow Wilson.

STEVINGTON, England — An historic windmill with four cloth sails, believed the last of its kind in working order, was re-opened at ceremonies in this Bedfordshire town.

WEATHER FACTOR

Weather and water conditions on Pacific streams have a marked effect on natural propagation of salmon.

How Good Can Coffee Taste?

To find the answer—"cream" your coffee with Carnation Evaporated Milk. Even the best cup of coffee tastes better with Carnation—richer flavored, smoother, more appetizing.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT CARNATION
CARNATION IS milk, made double-rich by evaporation. It is heavy enough to whip. And it is homogenized and heat-refined, so the last drop in the can is as creamy as the first.
