Cost of High Living In Prince Rupert.

The high cost of living is not troubling most people in Prince Rupert so much as the cost of high living. People here live well. They usually buy the best there is and get as much as they want. Step into a restaurant and you find there is no stint on the part of the large bulk of the patrons and this has been true even during war times. The people here, speaking in a general way, have the best of everything. It costs a good deal, just as it costs a lot everywhere, but they certainly spend their money.

Spending makes for good business. If everyone in this city hoarded, the restaurants, the poolrooms, the cigar stores, the theatres and other places of business would have to curtail a good deal. They would not make money as they seem to do now.

As a rule people spend all they make. A few people save, but the majority spend. They never feel that they are getting enough income because as their income increases so do their inclinations to spend increase. There is little provision for the future. That is why in some countries they have inaugurated a policy of old age, sickness and unemployment insurance. It does away with the fear of unemployment or sickness, and relieves the merchants of the necessity of extending credits.

Is There Virtue In Being Small?

There was an article written in one of the American weeklies recently on the virtues of littleness. It pointed out that people looked with a certain amount of respect on the small and struggling merchant, but when the business grew and the merchant became a merchant prince and the business was looked on as a corporation or trust, then it became the butt of every man who was poor.

Is there virtue in being small? People with small ideas fear, distrust or are jealous of those with big ideas. And yet it is the man with imagination, with brain power and with executive ability that will eventually bring about a better social condition. The small man will always be a cog. The big man is bound to predominate.

No Success Without Plenty of Advertising.

There can be no success without advertising. That hardly needs proof. There was a United States senator who was always in the public eye but who was opposed to the war. The newspapers of the United States agreed together not to mention his name. As a result his name is being forgotten today and he will find it very difficult if not impossible to secure re-election. He can secure no advertising so he no longer exists insofar as the American public is concerned.

Some merchants rely on their window advertising, or on their customers telling each other about the virtues of the goods they sell. A few depend on circulars that are mostly thrown in the waste basket without being read. Everyone reads the newspapers and ninety-nine per cent of the people read newspaper advertising, sometimes at any rate. They do it either consciously or unconsciously.

There are a few unusually wise people who profess to disbelieve in newspaper advertising. If they were in a newspaper office for a few days they would soon know its value. The tales that come in of quick returns, of smart sales, of wonderful results would convert the most hardened sceptic.

WEEPING ECZEMA SOON RELIEVED

A Perfect Treatment For This Distressing Complaint

WASHINGTON, Ont. "I had an attack of Weeping Eczema; so bad that my clothes would be wet through at times. For four months, I suffered terribly. I could get no relief until I tried 'Fruit-a-tives' and 'Sootha Salva'. The first treatment gave me relief. Altogether, I have used three boxes of 'Sootha Salva' and two of 'Fruit-a-tives', and am entirely well" G. W. HALL.

Both these sterling remedies are sold by dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa. "Fruit-a-tives" is also put up in a trial size which sells for 25c.
