Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

Mr. Abel opened the queen of diamonds and after some thought Mr. Muzzy won with dummy's ace. He seemed very pleased when this play dropped the king from Mrs. Keen's hand although, with the jack, ten and nine of the suit still out, it is hard to see why.

Anyway, at the second trick Mr. Muzzy led dummy's queen of spades. Mrs. Keen played the deuce and Mr. Muzzy dropped the five. The nine of spades was now led and the jack in the closed hand was finessed, winning the trick.

Here Mr. Muzzy shifted to clubs, taking his three top honors and leading a fourth round which Mrs. Keen captured with the jack. She returned a spade and Mr. Muzzy was in again with the ace. The best he could do at this point was to cash his ace of hearts and give up for down one.

Mr. New, the eager kibitzer, and Mr. Masters were watching the game. In great excitement Mr. New motioned Mr. Masters aside. "I'm learning," he said happily. "There was a perfect throw-in on that hand.

"If Mr. Muzzy had cashed his ace of spades before giving Mrs. Keen the lead he would have made his contract. Mrs. Keen would have won two spade tricks all right, but then she would have had nothing left but hearts and Muzzy would have made his winning heart finesse after all."

SIMPLER PLAY

"Not so fast, not so fast, my boy," replied Mr. Masters "You're right, of course, but Muzzy had a simpler play for his nine tricks. First, he should have ducked the opening lead. Mrs. Keen would have had to win with her singleton king and the threat of the diamond suit would have ended right there.

"But even after winning with the ace of diamonds as he did, Mr. Muzzy missed an easy unblocking play which would have let him make both the spade and heart finesses. When he played his queen from the board he should have dropped the jack from his hand.

"Now on the lead of the ten of spades, if Mrs. Keen covers, the ace is played and the five spot led back to the nine in dummy for a heart finesse. If Mrs. Keen doesn't cover the ten

"You are coming along, my friend," Mr. Masters continued, "but don't always look for the fancy play. Often a simple play will do just as well, or better."

Shut Out HMCS Ontario in Fine Game

The best game of the season so far was played last night when HMCS Ontario met Rupert Radio in a game at Gyro Park. The Radios won by a score of 4-0 in a fast, well-played contest, Jerry Ford making his first start of the year on the mound a success with an eight-hit shutout.

Rupert Radio scored three times in the bottom of the fourth when Monk Sundberg led off with a double. Then successive hits by Enridge, Scherk, Young and Matthews resulted in Sundberg, Enride and Scherk scoring. The last tally of the game came in the last of the sixth when Don Scerk singled into left field, took second on an infield out by Young, third on a passed ball and came in on a nice squeeze play by Larry Matthews.

The outstanding play of the game was in the top of the seventh when Navy third sacker Guthrie hit a triple to right field and attempted to score on a long fly to left by Armstrong but a perfect return from deep left by Watson to Young had him by five feet.

Tomorrow night the Ontario team will play the Columbia Cellulose team at Gyro Park and it is hoped that a better crowd than last night comes out. The sailors will definitely be out to gain a split in their stay here while the Cellulose team is currently the hottest in the city league so a good game is assured.
