For News Colored Comics

After some difficulty in arranging for the necessary newsprint, the Daily News has been able to finalize negotiations whereby a regular 8-page color comic section will be added as a weekly feature to this paper.

Assurances have been received that should make first publication possible in the issue of October 27. The supplement will appear each Saturday.

Considerable expense has been involved in the securing of this new feature with a view to improving the service and increasing the popularity of the paper. That it will be appreciated by old and young alike is indicated by comment heard since the first announcement was made. The features to be offered are:

Li'l Abner, Abbie and Slats, Captain and the Kids, Nancy, Fritzi-Ritz, Tarzan, Ella Cinders, and Casey Ruggles.

His main point, he contended, was that craft unions did not get the same recognition by the Labor Relations Board as did the industrial unions.

M. B. O'Toole, appearing on behalf of the International Union of Operating Engineers, joined with Mr. Black in requesting craft unions should be .15½ "given a chance to bargain for .071/2 their rights under their own unions."

Under Chairman A. J. R. Ash, MLA for Saanich, Mr. Black was heard to say that the ICA "hampers labor in organizing and assists organizations that are not affiliated or chartered by a recognized national or international trade union."
