The commissioners of the village of Stewart have commenced a program of replacing the wooden sidewalks with blacktop, a new method using an asphaltic base. If this method proves successful, replacements will continue until all the wooden sidewalks have been eliminated. With pack-horses roaming the streets and the heavy snowfall in the winter, the wooden walks have long been a source of expense to the village. "Paradise" Colorful

Glamor, romance and tradition of the Hawaiian Islands are combined in a spectacular Technicolor picture, "Bird of Paradise," which is being featured his Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Totem Theatre.

Played by a cast headed b Louis Jourdan, Debra Paget and Jeff Chandler, with hundreds of native Hawaiians also participating, "Bird of Paradise" tells of an island romance between white man whose sense of adventure brings him to ancient tropical islands and a native maiden who is the most beautiful and innocent of her tribe. It relates, too, the struggle between the old ritual and the new enlightenment, culminating in such sequences as trial by fire, vivid native Polynesian tribal dances and, finally, the sacrifice of the beautiful maiden to the flaming hunger of an erupting volcano,

"Great Divide"

How five men and a girl mak their way across the sun-baked wind-swept Mojave desert, braving the elements and battling the vengeance of an outlaw mob, forms the background basis for "Along the Great Divide," western epic which shows tonight and Thursday at the Capitol Theatre.

Kirk Douglas essays the part of a U.S. marshal forced to escort his prisoners through the blazing sands rather than turn them over to a lynch-hungry band of cattlemen. Douglas i called upon to engage in some hardy battle royals.

Virginia Mayo is seen as the girl who must choose between love for her father and the man sworn to bring him to justice. It is this conflict which brings about the suspenseful climax of the new drama.

John Agar plays the marshal's loyal deputy while Walter Brennan supplies much of the film's wit and humor.
