Larsen Committed for Trial on Charge of Attempted Murder; Being Tried for Murder.

Edmonton, October 6.—John Gundard Larsen has been committed for trial here on the charge of attempting to murder Constable Lyttle in the police cells on September 24. He is also being tried on a charge of murdering Constable Nixon on August 30.

Constable Lyttle, the man whose life Larsen attempted to take, was the first witness called at the morning session. He told the court that while he was in charge of the prisoner on September 24, after leading him to his cell, the prisoner asked: "Have you got the key of my shackles? One is very tight. Will you slacken it for me?" This Lyttle agreed to do. The door of the cell was open. "I knelt down at his feet," said the witness, "to slacken his shackle, when he struck me on the back of the neck with something hard." Lyttle did not know with what he was hit. He then got up and overpowered the prisoner and locked the door.

Larsen Was Enraged.

Asked regarding the man's mood, Lyttle said that Larsen had been friendly previously but at that time was quite enraged and acted like a man with a very bad temper. He rushed at the door and was muttering away to himself in his own language.

Constable R. Daly, in his evidence, corroborated that of the previous witness. He said he had been asked for a drink at the time by the accused. He did not give it to him immediately and instantly he saw the prisoner grab something from the bunk and slash Lyttle with it with all his might. Lyttle then jumped up and kicked the accused in the stomach. The accused also made a rush at the cell door with his shoulder, bending the bars.

The witness, when shown the granite cup, said he saw it in the cell at the time and kicked it out. It was the cup the prisoner hit Lyttle with.

Detective Appleby was also questioned and said that he searched the cell and found nothing except the granite cup. This witness, questioned by the magistrate, said that the prisoner was raving in the Swedish language, was in a dazed condition and fell down in the cell.

Dr. J. E. Aymot, who attended to the wounds in Lyttle's neck, stated that he found a large circular cut, which, if it had gone deep enough to reach the spine, it might have been fatal for Lyttle, or if it had been inflicted a little nearer the vein, death might have resulted.

The testimony concluded the case for the Crown, and the defence being reserved, the accused was committed for trial.

JAPANESE LAUNCH
NUMBER OF SHIPS

Merchantmen of over 1,000 tons gross each, which were launched from Japanese shipyards during the month of August numbered seven, totalling 22,960 tons. The vessels launched were: Capetown Maru, 5,860 tons; Kawasaki Dockyard; Eastern Breeze, 4,000 tons, Uruga Dockyard; Asaki Maru, 4,500 tons, Osaka Iron Works; Heime Maru, 4,500 tons, Osaka Iron Works; Aisawa Maru II, 1,200 tons, Aisawa shipyard; unnamed vessel, 1,200 tons, Osaka Iron Works; Sugashima Maru, 1,100 tons, Toba shipyard.

Of the above steamers, the Eastern Breeze is to be supplied to the American Government, while the Esaki Maru and the Heime Maru were ordered by the Nippon Kaisha Kaisha. All the other ships have been built by the shipyards mentioned on their own account.

The launchings for August compared with the corresponding month of last year, show a decrease of 12 in number and of 42,927 tons in tonnage. The vessels built from January to August last number 87, totalling 267,821 tons. These figures show a decrease of 40 in number when compared with the launchings for the corresponding period of last year, but the tonnage shows an increase of 35,738 tons.
