Methods of Administration Are Receiving General Support-non-Interference With Gandhi Not Taken as Weakness

SIMLA, India, April 9:-The government of India is following a careful policy designed to suppress the civil disobedience movement as speedily as possible and with as little disturbance as possible. Reports reaching Simla from all parts of India indicate that the government's methods are receiving general support and are not excitboth in this city and in the smaller ing half as much mystification in India as among the less towns and villages in this part of informed public in England and elsewhere. Well informed opinion in India is strongly impressed owith the government's wisdom of policy in leaving Mahatma Gandhi, rebel leader, alone so long as this can be done with safety. Non-interference with Mahatma's person is not regarded as any indication of weakness on the part of the authorities but it is recognized that precipitate action might give the artificial stimulus that its promoters are only too anxious to secure.

RUSH POWER LINE WORK

Slashing and Clearing Will Soon Be Done-Start Is Made on River Piers

With power house construction at Falls River well under way and steadily proceeding, the Power Corporation of Canada is now concentrating on the long transmission line which will bring the electric current to this city from the site of generation.

Slashing and clearing for the line has all been completed on the Ecstall River end or that portion on the other side of the Skeena River while some six miles remains to be done on this end. This should be completed within a month or little more. Digging of the rock holes in which the poles will be anchored is starting now at points where the clearing has been finished.

The Carter - Halls - Aldinger Co., which has been awarded the work, will start this week on the piers which will carry the transmission line towers across the Skeena River from Tyee.
