The city council last night advanced through its first readings bylaw providing for the temporary borrowing from the Royal Bank of Canada of $125,000 pending the collection of the current year's taxes. This amount will take care of a $50,000 overdraft the city already has at the bank as well as making funds available for necessary work.

As chairman of the fisheries committee, Ald. Rudderham reported to he city council last night that the the proposed new provincial salmon fishing regulations but had found nothing which would warrant the council changing its stand of the previous meeting when a resolution Macdonald, who is the northern rephad been passed opposing the reg- resentative on the British Columbia ulations. For this reason the committee had no formal report make to the council.
