HINTS FOR GARDENERS

MILDEW ON ROSES

Undoubtedly one of the commonest diseases affecting roses and a few other plants is mildew. The fungus shows itself in a whitening of the leaves followed by slight withering. On close examination the foliage appears to be lightly dusted with flour. Like all other diseases, this should be attacked preferably before it shows itself and so, if your roses are planted in rather a shady, damp position or if the season is damp, take precautions any way. Some varieties are more susceptible than others and if last year's experience proves that your particular varieties are susceptible, get after them just as soon as they have leafed out.

Dusting regularly with a mixture composed of nine parts of powdered sulphur to one part of dry arsenate of lead, applied when the foliage is moist with dew, watering or rain, is the best remedy. The mixture should be applied every week or so during the early part of the season. The sulphur should be applied every week or so during the early part of the season. This sulphur is not the kind commonly known as Flower of Sulphur, but is especially fine-grained for this particular purpose only. The sulphur will control the mildew while arsenate of lead in the mixture will prove a dainty tit-bit for any insects or other pests which eat holes in the leaves.

Saccharine, 300 times sweeter than sugar, is produced from coal tar.

OUTLOOK IMPROVED

Rain In Practically Every Prairie District During Past Week

WINNIPEG, June 23.—Rainfall in practically all the crop growing districts of Western Canada during the past week has materially changed the general outlook although at some points the rainy period was followed by hot winds which to a considerable extent deprived the crops of the total value of moisture received. Manitoba conditions are at present excellent but, in Saskatchewan and Alberta, the rains only supplied sufficient moisture for present conditions and, if any average crop is to be harvested, more rain at an early date is a necessity, according to the weekly crop report issued by the department of agriculture of the Canadian National Railways.

In Manitoba, conditions during the past week have been much more favorable for growth than at any time since seeding was completed. Some reseeding has been necessary on account of damage wrought by high winds on soil of the lighter types. From several districts in the province come reports of wheat being in shot blade but that barley and oats are a little late, due to the poor growth made in the hot weather of the past weeks. Some slight damage from cutworms has been reported but from no point has the damage been serious. Wild oats have made rapid growth and some districts are badly infested with this weed. On the whole farmers in Manitoba are well satisfied with present prospects.

Southern Saskatchewan had variable weather. Winds predominating at times followed by heavy showers. These showers have prevented a continuance of soil drifting but it is too much to expect that the moisture will promote the entire recovery of grain on land which has blown. Wheat acreage which was damaged on the Central Butte subdivision has now been re-sown to oats and the rain received immediately following reseeding has been beneficial.

In Central Saskatchewan along the Dodsland-Asquith-Craik subdivision grain is somewhat patchy and a considerable amount of reseeding has been done which will mean uneven ripening and a later harvest. Northern Saskatchewan was visited by rains which have put a different complexion on crop prospects. All grains are showing rapid growth with wheat fully a foot high in numerous places. Cutworms activity is reported along the Turtleford-Ammons-Duck Lake-Blain Lake subdivisions but the ravages from this pest are not serious. No evidence of the presence of "take-all" of wheat is yet reported from any districts. Sufficient moisture has been received for present requirements but more rain is necessary if a better than average crop is to be harvested.

In Alberta some of the districts which were in direct need of rain now state that with the moisture received in the past week prospects for a 50% to 75% crop are now practically assured provided no damage from hail, wind or insect pests develops. North Central Alberta received heavy rains. Crops have made a remarkable recovery and general conditions point to the harvesting of an average crop. In South Central Alberta centering on Three Hills, high winds and soil drifting have prevailed, fields being damaged from 40% to 50%. More moisture is therefore badly needed to not only promote normal crop growth but to improve pastures.

Peace River

The Peace River country has sufficient moisture for some considerable time and the precipitation in the High Prairie district was so heavy that flood damage is reported. Warm weather in the Peace River is now desired.

Generous receipts of plain, washy, grass fed cattle have been the means of foregoing prices to lower levels. Prospects are that no price strengthening will develop until animals arriving at central stock yards show a distinct improvement in quality and finish. The feeder hog division has been showing strength while finished hogs have been rapidly snapped up at prices slightly lower than a week ago.

At 6 o'clock Saturday evening the fire department had a call to Pete Bruno's barber shop at Cow Bay where the roof had caught fire from sparks from the chimney. About $10 damage was done before the blaze was extinguished.
