Imperial Oil's Extra Dividend Adds Millions to Buying Power

Imperial Oil next month will pay out $16,578,037 by way of regular and extra dividends on the 26,524,860 shares.

In November, 61 Canadian companies in which there is public investment interest, will pay quarterly dividends totalling $6,738,450, or less than half of the total to be paid out next month by this one great Canadian company.

Last December, 79 Canadian com-# panies, including Imperial Oil, paid quarterly dividends totalling $35,- TIMES ARE 771,604. This year, the December payments will be swelled by 37% through the Imperial Oil extra

More than 55,000 residents of Canada own 30% of the shares of Queen Charlotte City Board Imperial Oil, a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey. Thus Canadians benefit directly from this extra and regular dividend to the extent of $5,000,000.

Editor, Daily News-The Imperial Conference that has attracted so much attention in displaying the opinions of our wise men is due for a little checking up. Philip Snowden and associates must be right or they are wrong.

As I understand Snowden's viewpoint is that the world evolves under economic stress and that all naions are active economic factors! in a common world market. If it were true that we could obtain prosperity through political juggling we would have prosperity all the time as prosperity is better for the politician. No one likes poverty. Prosperity can only be achieved hrough active trade and active ade can only be maintained through world relationship. World relationship can only be mainained through cordial dealings and mutual exchange, and all of this can only be realized when the world is at work, producing, buying and The following resolution has been selling in that restricted world

Movement After Hearing Address

The Rotary Club at its meeting yesterday endorsed the Y. M. C. A. propect after hearing an address by A. S. McAlister, Toronto, railway secretary, who gave a brief address on the work of the organization. W. H. Tobey, chairman of the committee, also spoke briefly. Mr. McAlister explained that, according to the constitution of the Y. M. C. A., any self-respecting person might join. It was non-national, non-sectarian and non-denominational in character. He read the pledge which should be taken by any person wishing to join, a pledge that any Christian person could

The speaker said that during the 32 years in which he had been a member of the organization no religious difficulties had been encountered. The aim of the organization was to substitute worthy effort for those things which were less desirable. Another aim was to discover and train for leadership. It was a permanent organization. Many independent clubs had been started, operated for a brief time and failed. There was no doubt of the achievements back of the Y. M. C. A. In reply to T. H. Johnston, Mr. McAlister said the Y. M. C. A. members had visiting privileges with other similar organizations in any part of the world. In answer to George Munro, the speaker explained that the building, if erected, would be controlled and owned by the local board and not by the Y. M. C. A. organization.
