THE CIVIC QUESTION

The question of civic taxation is always a live one and which is, evidently, in favor of the there are always differing opinions in regard to it. Take four year course. the present situation. The tax rate will have to be increased, probably to 49 mills but it need not be. If the people BANDMASTER are willing to do without proper fire protection and water services, two mills can be lopped from the rate. Possibly by stern pruning another mill could yet be eliminated by reducing minor services and by cutting down on the police even more saving could be made. To do any of these things would cripple the city. We have to live for the future as well as for the present. We must build slowly and steadily with a view to permanence. Prince Rupert has got beyond the stage of temporary patching and all work done from this time on should be carried out along a definite plan of development, having in view at the same time the needs quet in honor of parents of the of the present and the ability of the city to pay.
