RIGHTS OF PEDESTRIANS

Prince Rupert car drivers should remember that pedestrians have rights on the highway, even though popular opinion seems to indicate that they have not.

Owing to difficulties in construction and costs there are still a good many paved streets with no sidewalk beside them. On these pedestrians often find themselves crowded off, especially when two cars are passing each other. Women and children complain bitterly of the little consideration shown them by some drivers.

While it is also true that some pedestrians have no consideration for the rights of drivers of cars, there should be more care taken in the matter of speed and especially at the time of temporary congestion of the street.

Prince Rupert people should look forward to Thanksgiving Day, for few people on this continent have greater reason to be thankful than they.

MUCH TO LEARN YET

There seems to be much to learn yet about the art of flying. Seldom a day passes but news comes of some accident turn last evening, that he would go in the air but it does not deter those who are devoting their out again today for another search lives to flying. Some day, possibly in the near future, it will just as soon as it was clear enough be just as safe to fly as to travel in a motor car but for the present aviation is looked upon by the insurance compan- of finding Renahan's party or Tokay Grapes, 1b. ies as a hazardous occupation.

From Porcher Island with darkness impending, the search plane returned to Prince Rupert to spend the night.

Many theories are held as to than or where he might have gone after being sighted last in Grenville Channel. With his engine missing and darkness having fallen, it i considered more likely that he had headed for Prince Rupert than for Ketchikan. That his engine gave out and he was forced to land seems likely and landing at strange point after dark has, it i feared, proven disastrous. Renahan was flying from Vancouver to Atlin to join the search there for Capt. E. J. A. Burke. His companions were Frank Hatcher. mechanic, and Sam Clerf, prospector and guide. Pilot Eckmann hopped off at 10 o'clock this morning on his second search flight. There was a drizzling rain and visibility was poor. He hoped, however, that conditions would clear soon. Pilot Eckmann and his party returned to port shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon, reporting no success in their morning quest. They were away nearly three hours and scoured Grenville Channel as thoroughly as meteorological conditions would permit. The ceiling, however, was low on account of clouds and the elevation that was desired could not be obtained. Bays and hills were, however, combed without trace of the missing Renahan party.

Rotary Club Has Dinner Dance In Place Luncheon

Members of the Rotary Club, their wives and a few friends held a very enjoyable dinner dance last evening in the Commodore Cafe. President S. D. Johnston presided while for the dance George Woodland was master of ceremonies. The music was provided by the Premier orchestra.

The chairman welcomed the guests prior to commencing dinner and in the course of the evening there were vocal solos by Mrs. S. D. Johnston and Mrs. C. L. Monroe and a recitation by Miss Beryl Birch, all of which were much appreciated. Charles Balagno was accompanist for the singers. This event took the place of the regular weekly luncheon.
