Parliament Is Now In Committee for Purpose of Considering Tariff

Government Motion Passes By Majority of Thirty-Four, Liberal and Progressive Amendments Being Defeated

OTTAWA, Sept. 20:--The government yesterday afternoon carried its motion to go into committee of ways and means on tariff proposals, the division being 121 to 87 or a government majority of 34. All Conservatives supported · the motion and all Liberals opposed it as well as some members of smaller groups. Some of the Farmer and Labor members did not vote. The Liberal amendment expressing regret at the action of the government in regard to the British preference was defeated by 40 votes and the Progressive sub-amendment by 170 votes.

Prorogation of Parliament may now go over until Monday, it is expected. The House sat last night until midnight but progress yesterday was somewhat slow. Morning, afternoon and evening sittings were scheduled for today but it is possible that the only remaining item to be approved, the tariff bill, may not be passed in these sittings. In this event, Monday would witness prorogation. This would give Premier R. B. Bennett a narrow margin of time to catch his ship from Quebec on Tuesday to attend the Imperial Conference in London.
