ALEX MANSON GYRO SPEAKER

Spoke Interestingly on Subject of Wills—Hoedown to Be Held November 7

"It is grossly negligent and not playing the game with one's family for a man to die without leaving a properly drawn up will," A. M. Manson K.C. told the Gyro Club in an interesting luncheon address yesterday on the subject of wills. Mr. Manson told his listeners the methods of drawing up a will properly, describing some of the errors that might easily be made in connection with the making of a will and told of some of the expensive and unlooked for difficulties that might arise through failure to leave a will or to have it drawn up properly. It cost so little in comparison with the amounts that usually were involved to have the will properly drawn up that there was no excuse for anyone not having it done right, Mr. Manson declared.

Guests at the luncheon, besides Mr. Manson, included G. M. Ferguson and A. A. Connon, both of Prince Rupert.

In view of the fact that the I. O. D. E., Hill Sixty Chapter, plans on holding a ball on October 31, it was decided to change the date of the Gyro Hoedown to November 7. William Cruikshank is general convener for the hoedown.

C. A. Kirkendall, president, was in the chair at the luncheon.

Surprise Party Held Last Night

Mr. and Mrs. Brooksbank Honored on Occasion of Twentieth Wedding Anniversary

To honor the occasion of their twentieth wedding anniversary, a surprise visit was paid last night by a party of some fifty friends on Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brooksbank at their home on Third Avenue. Dancing was the order of the evening's enjoyment and, during the festivities, the presentation was made by A. E. Bazett-Jones to Mr. and Mrs. Brooksbank of a handsome 400-day clock. Both Mr. and Mrs. Brooksbank replied suitably, expressing surprise and appreciation at the honor that had been done them.

Jack McNeil of Telkwa was an arrival in the city on today's train from the interior.
