RAILWAY AND PRINCE RUPERT

Now that under the influence of a new government the Canadian National Railway policy has changed in regard Neil, Bickle; Mark Brennan, Wisto Prince Rupert, it is a timely season to discuss the pos- taria; A. Moe, Decker Lake; Thomas sibilities for the future.

We offer the suggestion that local people recognize the changed situation and set about to meet it in a manner recently from vancouver, has demost likely to benefit the port. It is useless to attack the cided to start up in Burns Lake in government for its policy. Let us leave recrimination to the barbering trade. the politicians. We do not know what possible policy they may have to replace that of the other government. They may be planning great things for us and we not know it.

The suggestion has been made, and we think it a good one, that Prince Rupert should now do its best to interest the C. P. R. in using the port and that efforts should be made to induce the Federal Government to give the C. P. R. such inducements as will make it desirable for them to vancouver. come here. As we have before stated, they have already been in negotiation for privileges at Prince Rupert and now with a government rather inclined to be favorable to that company, they might well make such concessions to the company as will bring the negotiations to a successfu fruition.

Undoubtedly Prince Rupert would give the big railway Year vacation. a hearty welcome here. The citizens would be ready and eager to co-operate with them in every possible manner. Once they get here, they will doubtless see the value of the week bound for her home in this city as a tourist and industrial centre and may find that a hotel is vital to their business at the port.

We expect the C. P. R. to come to Prince Rupert and if anything we can say or do will help them to come, let us do it without delay.

WAGES INSTEAD OF DOLES

At the present time the tendency is to hand out doles in-local electric plant during the enstead of providing employment and paying wages to those forced absence of A. E. Ruddy with seeking aid. Practically all cities are doing it and there is a good reason for it.

Under the scheme initiated by the federal government and sponsored by the provincial administration, the two sum of $138 which is considered governments provide a certain amount of money for em- eminently satisfactory. ployment and another amount for what is known as "direct relief." In Prince Rupert this direct relief takes the form of 25c meal tickets issued to those who have no other means of subsistence. The employment relief is not issued only to the destitute but to those who are out of work and who need employment to enable them to carry on. The New Hazelton school last Friday pieces of work are definitely specified and the amount the evening. Almost all the pupils of governments will provide in Prince Rupert is limited to $16,500.

There will also be a limit to the amount of aid to direct tions. relief but so far this limit has not been definitely specified. If the city of Prince Rupert finds work for those needing aid and pays them wages instead of meal tickets, they must meet the cost themselves and can get no reimburse- ton.

ment from the higher governments. Prince Rupert can get help in handing out meal tickets but beyond the sum already specified can get no reimbursement for money expended in labor. The same is true of every other municipality in the province and presumably also in the other provinces of Canada. We believe this policy to be a vicious one, in that it encourages idleness and teaches people to expect money thy do not earn. We believe the average man would prefer to bad shape. earn his living rather than live at the expense of someone

Of course there are difficulties to be overcome if the policy is to be changed. The chief objection to federal or provincial aid to municipal relief work is that the municipalities take advantage of the situation to get improvements made at the expense of the rest of the country.

Recently the city council set fifteen men to work for one day doing odd jobs around the city. The next day another of the Decker Lake district, while patiently training a new town band. Important technical knowledge fifteen men were given similar treatment and so on. A number of useful small improvements were made at a cost of approximately two thousand dollars. It was relief work but not a dollar of it can be collected from the pro- drowned. Rescue work continued for vincial or the federal governments.

We believe that if the governments set their minds to ful. In addition to his widow, dework they can evolve a policy that will enable municipalities to give casual work to men who are destitute so that they may earn an honest living and keep in good physical over one hundred children in the Karl Anderson, Prince & World. condition instead of giving them doles in the form of meal tickets. Undoubtedly the present system is bad but it is bert received hampers on Christmas | Smithers Drug Store, Smithnot so easy to provide a better.
