Landings Still Lower

The two-week delay in commencement of halibut fishing operations this year is still to be marked by decreased landings so far this season at Prince Rupert. Up to April 17 this year landings aggregated 3,944,800 pounds as against 5,497,-850 pounds at a similar date last ,118,500 pounds as compared with 1,306,850 pounds in 1929 while the American total was 2,826,300 pounds

The decrease in American landings may be accounted for to some extent through the low price condition that has prevailed at Prince Rupert a good deal so far this year. Many boats offered their catches at the port but proceeded to Seattle when bids were not satisfactory to them. However, around Easter distinct filip was to be seen in volume of landings and, within the next few weeks, it is expected 1930 may commence to make a better

Prices were rather lower than might have been expected at the opening of the season but picked up around the end of March and first of April, only to fall back again because of the exceptionally heavy landings around Easter.

Captain Kohrt returned this week from Louis Locker's logging camp at the south end of Pitt Island, He says he was not conected with the planned salvage operations on the halibut boat Bingo, which was wrecked on the west coast of Banks Island. Any salvage operations with which he has been connected had

Prince William Runs Her Trials

Would Hardly Be Recognized Now as Grimy Greek Ship Which Arrived Here Last Year

For the first time since she arrived here nearly a year ago from the Atlantic Coast a grimy Greek waif known as the Aktion, the C. N. ss. steamer Prince William, a veritable transformation of her old self as a result of an extensive program of reconditioning at the local dry dock, was seen steaming around the Prince Rupert harbor yesterday afternoon. She moved out from the dock to run her trials with Capt. William Thomas, who is to be her skipper, in command. The Prince William is now a trim, neat craft of racy lines and should be well suited for her local service out of Prince Rupert to the Queen Charlotte Islands, Skeena and Naas Rivers in which she will be commissioned next week.

MONDA

More Details of Phenomenon Which Will Be Partially Visible Here

The arc of greatest darkness of the eclipse of the sun on Monday morning will occur about 11:15. The central path of the eclipse will begin far out in the Pacific Ocean, entering California near San Francisco, crossing the States of the northwest, entering Canada near Broadview, Sask., passing Dauphin, Man., crossing Lake Winnipeg and Hudson's Bay and enterng the Atlantic Ocean near Nain, Labrador.

The eclipse will be total in the TALKING and SINGING neighborhood of San Francisco. The duration of totallity however is ery short, less than two seconds at ts maximum.

In Canada the central line of the clipse will assume the annular

An annular eclipse is described as n eclipse of the sun in which a ortion of the surface is visible in he form of a ring surrounding the lark body of the moon. This ocurs when the moon is too remote from the earth to cover the sun completely and at the moment when the centres of the sun and moon are nearly in a line with the point of the earth's surface where he observer stands. At no time will he annular eclipse in this case last onger than 15 seconds.

While a partial eclipse, as will be seen here, provides nothing of the pectacular, an annular eclipse is a striking phenomenon.

This eclipse was visible in April, 1912 under similar conditions, but further east. Fifty-four years from now it will repeat in the same long-
