EVERYBODY SEES

the ravages of the Forest Fire, but not everybody realizes that seventy per cent. of our fires in 1929 were preventable; in other words, they were due simply to carelessness. Pressure of public opinion has gone far to eliminate carelessness in other directions, but carelessness with fire is still amazingly prevalent.

The Prince Henry spoke for itself. He complimented the president of the railway on the men he had associated with him, with particular reference to Colonel Hiam.

In rising, Sir Henry said he found himself somewhat embarrassed at not receiving the usual requests for improvements. Part of what had been promised in the past to the people here had been brought to fruition and, by co-op-

Speaking of the world depression, Sir Henry said it had been a sort of economic thunderstorm. Nothing was organically wrong Nothing had changed fundamentally, so there was nothing worry about. He anticipated recovery in the near future.

Sir Henry then went on to speak of the potentialities of the Oriental trade. Four or five hundred was not yet touched. As Prince graphs lines south of here. Rupert was closer than any other port to the Orient, he anticipated a great increase of trade here with that part of the world. The West Indies trade was also important but Western Canada could not expect to reap the benefit of this until steamships were plying di-
