Premier King Makes Important Statement in House of Commons Regarding Western Railway

Brady Interrogates Prime Minister For His Opinion

Beatty and Thornton Agree Outlet Should Be Found and Hope to Do So Within Six Months

OTTAWA, May 29.—"It is highly desirable that both the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway should undertake a joint survey of an outlet to the Pacific Coast. If that is not done within a year, then the present administration, if returned to power, will take steps to have such work begun." So Premier King declared in the House of Commons last night. J. C. Brady, M. P. for Skeena, had asked the Premier if he believed the opinion of the two presidents referred to would lead to a complete solution of the outlet to the Pacific. "I said it is desirable that the work should be done as a joint undertaking. Unless some start is made in a year, the administration will find a way to have a start made," the Premier replied.

The Premier, in his statement, said that he had had a recent interview with E. W. Beatty, C. P. R. president, and that Hon. T. A. Crerar, minister of railways, had seen Sir Henry Thornton, C. N. R. president. Both had agreed that it should be possible for some outlet to be discovered and they agreed also to try, if possible, to do so within six months. It was this opinion that Mr. Brady had reference to.

Amy Johnson Had Bad Crash In Landing at Brisbane; Machine Is Damaged But She Is Unhurt

BRISBANE, Queensland, May 29.—Amy Johnson cracked up her plane at Eagle Farm airdrome this afternoon but was not injured. The plane was carried by cross winds over the edge of the airdrome, hit a fence and turned turtle. Miss Johnson was thrown clear of the machine, receiving only a shaking up. The propeller of the plane was snapped off and both wings were crumpled. The machine will be repaired to enable Miss Johnson to continue the flight to Sydney. A large crowd cheered vociferously as Miss Johnson was driven to the hangar.

Previously at Toowoomba, 5,000 people greeted the youthful aviator and presented her with a purse of £100 sterling. Three planes, piloted by women, escorted her from Toowoomba to Brisbane. Thousands crashed through the police lines, shouting and horrified when they saw the accident. When they saw her get up uninjured their screams turned to cheers.

OTTAWA, May 29.—Premier King announced today that the government does not intend to proceed with bills of a contentious nature. There were seven bills on the order paper, he said, of which possibly three or four might be said to be contentious. Non-contentious bills, however, would be proceeded with, he announced. Then there remains but the voting the supply and the road will be clear for prorogation or dissolution of Parliament, preparatory to a general election.

There is still uncertainty as to whether or not the business of the House will be sufficiently advanced to permit of holding the election on July 28. In order to make that date possible, Parliament must be prorogued by tomorrow at the latest. Some sections of the House are convinced that it is impossible to conclude by this time and express the view that August 11 is more likely as the election date.

Mining Development Goes Hand In Hand With Civilization, Is Engineer's Statement to Club

Down from the earliest annals of history in the stone age to the present day which the speaker chose to designate as "the age of multifarious minerals," mining development and progress of civilization had gone hand in hand, Dr. J. T. Mandy, resident mining engineer, declared yesterday in addressing the Prince Rupert Gyro Club at luncheon. Further, Dr. Mandy said, it was becoming increasingly apparent that no country could be great without a flourishing and a prosperous mining industry. Dr. Mandy's subject was "Mining in Relation to Civilization" and he spoke most interestingly.

The mining industry of necessity Dr. Mandy said, was a pioneer business. It had been so since the first. It had its permanent effect, however, in the fact that, where mining industries were established other industries were bound to come, and, long after the mines might be worked out and cease activities, the others continued permanently.

From early history, Dr. Mandy said, much of the exploration of the world had been inspired by mineral resources that were known to exist in the new lands. The Romans had come to Britain not because it was their desire to conquer that country but to get tin and the iron which was known to exist there. Lief Erickson in the eleventh century had crossed from Iceland to America to encounter the coal cliffs on the coast of New Brunswick. Christopher Columbus had come across the Atlantic not so much to discover a new land but to find a shorter route to the mines of Japan and the gold and silver of the Indies. Mexico and Peru had occupied the early limelight because of their mineral wealth.
