INTRODUCING MR. B.T.U"

... and the reason why ISLAND Coal is GOOD Coal

A S a prominent Canadian fuel engineer says: "There are almost as many kinds of coal as there are varieties of pickles." To most people coal is just "coal". They know it as the stuff that is put in fire grates—but that's about all.

The first requisite of coal is heat . . . and this is why Island Coal is such good coal.

Chemical experiments with three kinds of Island coal showed an average of 13,030 B.T.U.'s (heat units) as against several non-Island, competing grades, which only averaged 10,000.

It's the B.T.U.'s that count! It pays to remember that when you buy Island coal you get a greater amount of HEAT. Experiments showed that the moisture content of Island Coal at pit head averages only 1.37%, where non-Island grades showed 15.43%! Again, the volatility (easy burning) of Island coal is 4.1% greater. In addition to its greater HEAT value, Island coal is the safest, most even, most adaptable fuel on this market . . . especially when governed by automatic control.

Remember, the Island coal business is a major industry of British Columbia; it maintains more than 30,000 people . . . nearly all of whom live on the Island or in Vancouver. Every ton of coal consumed means a day's work for a B.C. miner. Regular work means full pay and maintenance for the miner's family.

The dealers listed herewith all sell Nanaimo-Wellington and Comox coals. Buy home products! Every dollar for imported fuels that goes out of British Columbia is a dollar less at home!
