AIMS OF Y. M. C. A.

A. S. McAlister, Railroad Secretary, Guest at Luncheon Yesterday

It is not the aim of the Y. M. C. A. to duplicate the work of any other organizations but to cater definitely to the physical and social activities of the young people, stated A. S. McAlister, railroad secretary of the national council of the Y. M. C. A. in Canada, who was the guest of honor at a luncheon of the Rotary and Gyro Clubs yesterday afternoon at the Commodore Cafe. There were present also representatives of several other organizations in the city.

Mr. McAlister gave an interesting address on the work of the Y. M. C. A. which he described as purely undenominational in character. Organizations were all self governed and could devote their energies to any particular phase of work in the interests of young men. Often the Y. M. C. A. became headquarters for the various sports and social activities in a city. He suggested that in Prince Rupert it might be thought that they should devote their energies to carrying on a gymnasium and swimming pool with various offices connected therewith or they might have reading rooms and other activities, particularly bowling alleys and billiard rooms. Games could be held if desired. The first thing was to form a committee to decide upon the needs of the community and the possibilities in raising money. They would draw up a budget which would include the first two years of maintenance. Dormitories might be added to the building if it were thought wise. All depended upon the needs of the community.

Mr. McAlister complimented the people here on their co-operative spirit and said it was necessary in a town this size to have almost the complete co-operation of all sections. The organization was an important one with two million members. It was not an experiment. Its work was based on the effort to build character. It did not regard race or creed or color. There was no dictation from the head office but simply advisory assistance. It was found that young men preferred to be decent if given the opportunity and the Y. M. C. A. strove to provide the opportunity.

In Y. M. C. A. work leadership was necessary. No success could be attained without it. The organization had had long experience and was better able to provide organizers than anyone else.

Rotary President George Bryant spoke appreciatively of having the Gyros at a joint luncheon and of the work of that organization. They had been responsible for getting Mr. McAlister here.

President Kirkendall of the Gyros spoke happily of the occasion and of the need of an organization such as that discussed.

Among those present in addition to the Rotarians and Gyros were Mayor Orme, Fred Stephens, representing the Elks; W. H. Sherman of the Eagles, G. W. Johnstone of the Sons of Canada; Ian Fraser of the H; J. Smith of the Canadian Legion; T. Thomson, district secretary of the Gyros; Don Macdonald of Vancouver; Weldon McAfee and Alex Connon.

Manager of Rived Spruce Industry Leaves Islands For States

M. Pinsley, manager for the Bernfeld Logging Co., which was engaged in production of rived spruce in Skidegate Inlet, Queen Charlotte Islands, until the provincial government ruled recently that such timber could not be exported, left the islands recently for New York. Mr. Pinsley said he hoped to return soon providing they were permitted to rive spruce and export it to their factory at St. Paul, Minn. It is very much regretted on the islands that this budding industry should have been closed down.

Delegates have been appointed by the Elks Lodge to attend the convention at Calgary July 30. Those chosen were Fred Stephens, G. E. Phillipson and Frank Dibb.
