HIKED FROM PEACE HERE

Young Englishman Took Five Weeks to Make Trip; Rifle Helped to Get Food

An interesting visitor in the city at the week-end was A. Woods of Northampton, England, who travelled all the way from the Peace River district to Prince Rupert through the bush and safely arrived on Sunday, sailing the same night on the steamer Prince Rupert for Vancouver en route home.

Mr. Woods, a husky young man, came from England to the Peace River to inspect some land before his family moves out from the Old Country to take up farming. After he had attended to this business, being of an adventurous nature, he decided that he would find his own outlet to Prince Rupert. He set out with 10 days' rations but the trip took him five weeks. By the use, mainly of his trusty rifle, he was able to get food to see him through. Incidentally, he had to swim 14 large rivers as well as numerous smaller streams during his trip here from the Peace River.

Mr. Woods attended service Sunday evening in First Presbyterian Church here and was easily recognized as a hiker by the clothes he wore.

Short Search On Saturday Saw No Clue to Renahan

Pilot Anscel Eckmann made a flight of about an hour Saturday afternoon in search for Robin Renahan but the weather was so thick just below Prince Rupert that he could hardly see the land much less trace of a plane or persons. He was accompanied on the trip by Constable Olsen, skipper of the provincial police boat.

The south siding of the North B. C. Regiment's tennis court was blown down by the gale early yesterday morning. There were a few broken windows as a result of the blow but no very serious damage was done. Small boats moored at floats along the waterfront were rushed safely to shelter at the dry dock and elsewhere.
