HENS TO ENGLAND

Best Specimens of B. C. Poultry Going Overseas

VANCOUVER, July 4.—"Why does a hen cross the continent?" Some of the best specimens of British Columbia poultry left here Wednesday night in a special Canadian National express car bound for London, England, to attend the world's poultry congress in an endeavor to demonstrate that poultry from this part of the world is the best. Caged in specially built pens of British cedar and with a fanned B.C. apple a day for each hen for the journey, these scions of the poultry race, accompanied by their gentlemen friends, will first go to Ottawa where the entire exhibit from Canada will be gathered prior to crossing the Atlantic.

The B.C. section of the exhibit will be in charge of J. R. Terry, poultry expert of the provincial government, who will accompany them and, with the assistance of the Canadian National express employees, minister to the wants of the birds en route.

SUMMER HERRING

Chartered Jessie Island No 2 Reported to Have Been Successful in Quest

Capt. Lloyd, who has been prospecting for the fisheries department with his seineboat Jessie Island No. 2 has proven, as has been maintained for some time, that there is a heavy run of summer herring on the West Coast of the Queen Charlotte Islands.

The sending out of the Jessie Island No. 2 was decided upon by the fisheries department at the instance of the Canadian Halibut Vessel Owners' Association of Prince Rupert which was desirous of ascertaining if there was not summer herring available for the use of the halibut fleet as bait.

Capt. Lloyd is now holding some 25 tons of live herring in a pound at Moore Channel on the West Coast of Moresby Island for the use of the fleet.

An extra heavy run of herring has also been reported recently in Skidegate Inlet.

There were 193 passengers, most of them round trip tourists, going north aboard the steamer Princess Louise which was in port this morning bound from Vancouver to Skagway. Four passengers disembarked here from the vessel.

HERE FROM CONVENTION

Al Reynolds, District Governor of Rotary, Addressed Local Club

Members of the Rotary Club yesterday were told all about the wonderful convention at Chicago when nearly 12,000 delegates assembled from 64 different nations in the huge stadium to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the movement. Twenty-four living international presidents were present, including the founder, Paul Harris, and in front of the platform was a birthday cake on which were 25 candles. The cake was so large that it took 50,000 feet of lumber to make the framework. As Al Reynolds of Portland, district governor, told about the great event and pictured it, at the luncheon yesterday, local members could imagine themselves sitting amid the vast throng, joining with 10,000 others at the ball in the evening and listening to the addresses of the big men in Rotary.

Telling of the theme of the convention, Mr. Reynolds said it was the new conception of business. Today the science of business was the science of service, involving the precept that he profits most who serves best. Business people were public servants.

The sixth object of Rotary was also discussed, this having to do with the relations of nations to each other with a view to universal peace. Rotarians tried to sow the seeds of good will between nations and to the nations of Europe who were represented this idea seemed to be uppermost in their thoughts. A British Army officer from England told how the presence of big armies always led to war. Sir Henry Thornton spoke of the changed outlook in industry and the messages all spoke of development in social, business, national and international life.

CONTINUE SERVICES

Canadian National Steamships Not to Curtail Runs

MONTREAL, July 4.—The Canadian National Steamships are not considering curtailment of their ocean freight services, according to an official statement issued from the head offices of the company here. The freight services which are in operation will be continued despite rumors to the contrary which have recently been circulated.

The statement continues that the services now in effect between the eastern and western coasts of Canada, between Canadian ports and those of South America, Australia, New Zealand, the West Indies and British Honduras are working out satisfactorily and it is felt that they are a very great benefit to Canada in encouraging the extension of trade between these different parts of the Empire. There is no intention of curtailing these services.

Advance Poll Is Only For People of Three Callings

In connection with the advance poll, mention of which was made yesterday, Returning Officer Mortimer states that this is only for railroadmen, sailors and commercial travellers. No others are allowed to vote in advance, according to the election law.

At the Rotary Club luncheon yesterday Sid Johnston, recently elected, was installed as president for the coming year by the retiring president, George Bryant. Two new members were received, Weldon McAfee, representing the lumbering manufacturing industry, and Paul Armour, representing transportation, salvage and lighting.
