WORD OF COMMENTATION

Editor, Daily News:

May I commend a recent editorial of yours on the subject of the presentation of the truth about the prohibition question in the United States. It is the only time I have seen an editorial voice in a B.C. newspaper lifted in a desire to stem the tide of prohibition which foists a good deal of the work. The larger scales of the province could well follow suit, and to themselves credit.

Man in the Moon

Good morning John! Merry Xmas to you all!

Just be as merry as you may tomorrow is our Christmas Day. Then we will feast and tuck in to make the family fun complete.

John says he had a leg off a turkey earlier last year and it was so tough it has made him feel tough ever since.

If you would know the answer to any question, just write a note and post it soon to Santa who lives in the moon. Tell him you want just things of things.

There was and we what Santa brings.

Baptist Sunday School Stages Its Xmas Tree

The Baptist Church was well filled last evening for the annual Christmas Tree. There was a program of entertainment which was much enjoyed by all. The following children took part:

Recitations by Melbourne Barry, Wilma Tharber, June Gilber, Ella Erwin, Doris McGee, Helen Green, and Della Hale; vocal solos by Ben Johnson and Phyllis Hamilton; dialogue by Audrey Green and Betty Payne; chorals, Mrs. Lily's class; piano solos by Russell Cameron and Helen Hamilton; dialogue by Josephine Gay and Helen Henderson; drill by Mrs. Gilber's class; and song and tableaux by primary department.

At the conclusion of the program, Santa appeared and was in a merry mood. He presented each scholar with a gift and bag full of nuts, candy, oranges, etc. Mr. Gilber occupied the chair and the singing of "National Anthem" brought a very happy evening to a close.

John H. Morgan arrived in the city on yesterday afternoon's train from Billmer to meet his brother, E. E. Morgan, who returned this morning on the Prince George after a trip to Minneapolis.
