ADDRESS BY JOHN DORE

Gives Interesting Account of Telegraphic Work at Rotary
Luncheon Yesterday

The submarine earthquake of November last broke twelve transatlantic cables and so badly were they injured although seven cable ships have been engaged in the work of reconstruction only seven of the twelve are now in use and several may never be repaired, according to John Dore, district superintendent of the Government Telegraphs, who gave an address on telegraphic communication at the Rotary Club luncheon yesterday afternoon.

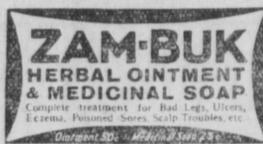

Mr. Dore reviewed the whole field of telegraphic work and ventured the opinion that the radio telephone was not likely to replace the wire, at least for many years to come. The very fact that a new speaking cable was being constructed across the Atlantic indicated that wireless competition was not feared.

In opening, Mr. Dore told of the attempt about sixty years ago to string a wire by way of Hazelton and Alaska to Russia. It was built only 30 miles past Hazelton when work stopped and has never been resumed.

Tremendous strides had been made in telegraphic work Mr. Dore said. Today 16 messages are sent over one wire at the same time and over the transatlantic cable 600 words a minute are sent. An average of 52,000 messages a day go by cable across the Atlantic. The radiophones average only 50 calls a day.

Mr. Dore told of the wonderful progress of the telephones in South American countries and then dealt with some of the difficulties encountered. One of the greatest was earth tremors. The greatest of these had been the quake of last November. Usually when a cable breaks the ends are picked up only a few miles apart, but on this occasion they varied from 85 to over 100 miles apart and some of the cables were broken in a number of places.

Experiences in the West Indies proved very interesting. Mr. Dore was there when the Mount Pelee eruption took place. The cable ship Grappler went down there and no trace of her or of her crew was ever seen.

REDUCTION ASSESSMENT

Townsite Co. Given Compromise Decision by Court of Revision Yesterday

At the adjourned meeting of the civic court of revision held yesterday afternoon in the city council chamber, it was decided to decrease the assessment on three pieces of acreage under the mountain owned by the Grand Trunk Pacific Development Company, a subsidiary of the Canadian National Railway. This is the relief of the old townsite company that originally, in conjunction with the McBride government, placed the townsite of Prince Rupert on the market.

The assessor had decreased the assessment by almost fifteen per cent but the court made the decrease 22½ per cent, just half of the extra decrease asked by the company.

R. R. Nichol, assistant townsite commissioner, agreed to accept a compromise of a 25 per cent reduction but did not state whether or not his company would agree to the 22½ per cent set by the court. Should they not accept it, they have the right of appealing to the Supreme Court of B. C.

The request of the company was discussed at length at the previous meeting and yesterday's session lasted only about half an hour. All the members of the court were present, Mayor Orme presiding.

In answer to questions by T. D. Pattullo, Attorney-General R. H. Pooley said in the legislature last week that three constables—Alexander Moir, A. T. Batchelor and L. R. P. Dickson—had been dismissed from the provincial force in the Prince George district during 1929. Moir having asked for permission to resign, while necessary reorganization caused Batchelor and Dickson to be dismissed. All three were returned soldiers and married men.

Valentine Tea Is Successful

A very successful Valentine tea and sale was held yesterday afternoon by the Ladies' Aid of First Presbyterian Church in the church parlors, which were decorated with red and white hearts and other seasonal adornments for the occasion. Mrs. Sam Massey and Mrs. Berner having been in charge of the arrangement of these decorations.

In the tea room Mrs. James Simpson and Mrs. F. D. Rice were in charge, while Mrs. D. G. Stewart and Mrs. W. J. Nelson poured. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Thomas McMeekin, Mrs. J. R. Morrison, Miss Agnes Mackenzie, Miss Nessie Brown, Mrs. J. H. Carson, Mrs. C. A. Kirkendall and Mrs. W. L. Sandison. The home cooking table was in charge of Mrs. H. M. Foote and Mrs. Berner and Mrs. D. McLeod was cashier.

During the afternoon there was a delightful musical program arranged by Mrs. William Millar. There were vocal solos by Mrs. J. A. Teng and Mrs. Millar, piano solos by Billy Fuller and Miss Muriel Vance, violin solo by Miss Nellie Lawrence and recitations by Miss Adella Thurber. Mrs. C. E. Cullin and Mrs. James Black were accompanists.

Something over $45 was realized as a result of the affair.

Radiophones Are Being Installed Ashore and Afloat

The Board of Trade has received a notification from the Canadian Marconi Co. that there are about 100 radio telephone stations afloat and ashore using the radio telephone services of the company and one is to be installed now for the Chatham Sound Fishing & Packing Co. at Humpback Bay, Porcher Island. Several canneries already use the service and it is expected that more will install phones in the near future.
