Good Things Come In Small Quantities
MALVERN, Eng., Aug. 24.—George Bernard Shaw would rather pick up a piece of small change many times than take a big profit only once in a while, he said today at an address here in the interests of the National Theatre movement. It would be surprising to know, he said, how much money he gets from little groups of players putting on his dramas in halls where the admission price is from ten cents to a quarter. "I take my fifteen cents, touch my hat and trust for a renewal of favors," said he.
