Dizzy Headaches and Fainting Spells

Mrs. Lloyd Babcock, Hartington, Ont., writes: "Some time ago I was all run down in health. I had dizzy headaches, and suffered a great deal with fainting spells. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters and after taking two bottles I felt like a new person."

"My husband was troubled with indigestion, after meals, and could get nothing to do him any good until he took B.B.B."

Construction of 60,000 Ton Ocean Mammoth For Cunard Affects Thousands of Workmen

LONDON, Jan. 8:—Messrs' John Brown and Company, great Clydebank shipbuilding firm, is actively going ahead with the construction of the giant new liner for the Cunard company, to cost about $30,000,000. The contract was signed recently after the steamship company was assured that the Southern Railway would build at Southampton a graving dock able to accommodate the mammoth liner. The British government is taking a portion of the vast amount of insurance necessary.

The building of the 60,000 ton vessel will have an immediate effect on more than 300,000 workmen in many trades throughout the world, points out the Manchester Guardian's special correspondent. Almost every industry in this country will be able to employ more men during the two or three years which will be occupied in building and furnishing the largest ship in the world.

Marble will be imported from Italy and Norway to be shaped into decorative pillars, floors, swimming baths, ordinary baths and lamp fittings. Something like 300,000 pieces of silverware and 60,000 pieces of cutlery will be required, and there will be more than 200,000 pieces of earthenware, china, glass and other vessels.

The largest order will probably be given to the electrical industry, and something like 100 miles of cables will be threaded through the vessel. The ventilation system, run by electric power, will be very elaborate and every cabin will be so fitted with ventilation power that filtered air, warm, medium, or ice cold can be turned on at a moment's notice.

There will be rooms in the Adams style, Chippendale, Louis XVth., Renaissance and Georgian, and the furniture will be original in almost every respect.

About twenty wireless operators using separate wireless installations will also be used to deal with messages. Shops will also be provided on the promenade decks, and the tailoring industry will be called in to provide uniforms for the crew of 1,200.

It is computed that at least $15,000,000 will be distributed for the building of the ship among the trades of the world. The other $15,000,000 will be wanted for the building of the hull. The keel plates have already been laid and some of the hull plates have been cut and are now waiting to be placed together.

Now that the building of one ship has at last been definitely decided upon, the directors of the Cunard Line will doubtless consider whether a contract for the construction of a second ship shall be given out. Whether the second ship will be a sister vessel has not yet been announced, but the Cunard Company have on previous occasions favored the building of sister ships. There is much economy in this method as articles can easily be duplicated. Both Newcastle and Birkenhead have urged their claims, and there is much unemployment among shipyard workers in both places.
