Halibut Liver Shipping New Industry—Seaplane to Be Repaired Soon—Halibut Landings

Quite a substantial little industry bids fair to develop at Prince Rupert in connection with the new project of shipping halibut livers to Chicago for use in the medicinal work of Abbott Laboratories. The Booth Fisheries Co. is buying the halibut livers at Prince Rupert and the Bacon Fisheries has been given the work of dehydrating and freezing the livers preparatory to shipment East. Instead of being thrown overboard as was formerly the case, the livers are now being saved on board many of the fishing boats. Immediately on landing in port the livers are landed and processed for shipment. The price being paid is 12c a pound and, when it is taken into consideration that a single boat recently brought in 1092 pounds, it is not an altogether negligible matter to save the livers. In three days recently 6704 pounds of livers were landed.

There will be no appointment to the office of director of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station in succession to D. B. Finn, who resigned over a year ago, until next spring at the earliest, it is learned. Pending the new appointment, H. N. Brocklesby is continuing as acting director. Scope of work at the station is constantly increasing. A meeting of Pacific Coast sub-executive of the Biological Board of Canada was held at the station last week when various matters of policy were discussed.

Rio Bonita Leaves

After having spent since last summer cruising in Northern British Columbia and Alaska waters with Mr. and Mrs. F. deGanahl and party of New York on board, the Vancouver charter yacht Rio Bonita, belonging to A. Melville Dollar, sailed at noon Thursday for her home port. Capt. William Wyborn, regular skipper, came north to take the vessel south. Capt. Frank Tyler, who had been in command during the summer, went to Vancouver to spend a vacation.

The Seattle charter yacht Nooya arrived in port Thursday afternoon from Alaska to have repairs made at the local dry dock to an exhaust manifold. As soon as the work is completed the vessel will proceed to Seattle, her home port. A party of Detroit people which had been cruising on the Nooya proceeded south from here by steamer Thursday night.

Having evidently had mechanical trouble, the big Imperial Oil Co.'s tanker Albertolite sent out an S O S call on Tuesday night of this week from the vicinity of Swanson Bay. The next morning the vessel, which had delivered fuel cargo here and at Stewart, was able to proceed to Vancouver under her own power.

Repairs to the Northern British Columbia Airways Gypsy Moth seaplane, which was damaged several weeks ago while on a flight to Langara Island, are expected to be completed within the course of the next week or ten days. The work has been carried out under the direction of Pilot Desmond Murphy and Mechanic Ole Rollag at the company's newly-established hangar on the waterfront. After the necessary government inspection has been made following completion of repairs, the plane will be ready to go once more into commission.

The Pacific Salvage Co. is carrying out the work of putting in a new float on the waterfront for the Digby Island ferryboat Catherine B. While the work on the new landing is going on, the Catherine B. is tying up at the Pacific Salvage floats. Henceforth the Catherine B. will remain overnight on this side instead of Digby Island, Captain Harry Calderwood having taken up residence in town some time ago.

The Northern British Columbia Power Co.'s power tug Billmor is undergoing an overhaul at the Pacific Salvage Co.'s floats.

The Sunset Hardware Magazine published in Vancouver has an interesting article in a recent issue on the fisheries of the British Columbia coast, Prince Rupert and its important relation to the fisheries coming in for prominent mention. There is a good picture of the local waterfront with many fishing vessels in sight, but labelled as "Waterfront at Vancouver."

Hunters report a great many more wolves than usual in the woods hereabouts this fall. There are both the black and grey variety of these predatory animals which destroy so many deer and upon which there is no bounty this year. Despite the lack of bounty, however, hunters are not loath to shoot such wolves as they encounter in the course of their roaming.

Boasts New Car

Jim Norrington of the Cold Storage is aspiring to the millionaire class, having now bought himself a fine car. Walking was too tiresome and the bus was much too plebian, so the car was purchased. We fear that Prince Rupert will soon be too small for our friend and that he may have to be shipped to more metropolitan scenes.

Halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert up to and including yesterday totalled 14,012,340 pounds, of which 5,300,900 pounds was from Canadian vessels and 8,711,440 lbs. from American. For the week ending yesterday landings aggregated 632,900 pounds, of which 134,400 lbs. was from Canadian and 498,500 from American vessels. Prices, on the whole, showed considerable improvement during the week just ended. The high bid of the week for Canadian fish was 9.2c and 5c paid the Gulvik for 4,000 pounds, while the low was 5c and 3c received by the Brant for 1600 pounds. For American fish the high price of the week was 10c and 3c paid the Ta-toosh for 15,000 pounds and the low 5.5c and 2c paid the Western for 34,000 pounds.

ROGERS IN FINE FILM

Great Comedy is Offered as Week-end Attraction at Capitol Theatre

In "Young as You Feel" current offering at the Capitol Theatre, Will Rogers, great American comedian, discards the personal habits of a lifetime and appears for the first time on the screen as a well-groomed and natty tailored gentleman. The picture is a most delightful combination of wholesome wit and infectious humor. Many Rogers fans think it is his best picture to date. There is a good plot which lends interest to the picture.

ers excellent support and turns in a delightful performance. Lucien Littlefield plays an important part as the long-suffering general manager of Will Rogers' meat packing plant.

On the whole, it is a delightful week-end entertainment.

Tom Dybhavn and daughter, Viola, sailed last night on the Car-de-na for a trip to Vancouver.

RECALLS LARGE SHIPMENT The Twenty Years Ago column of the Vancouver Province contains the following: "With 21,000 cases, the largest consignment of salmon this summer, the Boscowitz steamer r Vadsø, Capt. Noel, arrived from Prince Rupert this morning. A second smaller consignment of salmon from Rivers Inlet arrived in the afternoon on the steamer Celtic."

A better COAL BUT YOU PAY less!

VERY seldom is it possible to offer a better coal costing less than an inferior coal. But it's true in this case. Vancouver Island Coal... "Nanaimo-Wellington", "Lady-smith" or "Comox"... at today's prices, give you 30% more heat per dollar than your money will buy in any lignite coal available in Prince Rupert.

Just to prove this: There are, on the average, 13,030 B.T.U.'s* per lb. in these famous coals, as against 9,840 in the average lignite coal (imported). For the Island Coal you pay $13.50. For lignite you pay more.

- Double Screened Lump - - - $13.50
- Mine Run - - - - - 12.25
- Washed Nut - - - - - 12.00

There's a double advantage in demanding Vancouver Island Coal: (1) for its better heating value; (2) your money remains in B.C. and benefits your own community.
