CANADA AND RUSSIA

What is to be the attitude of Canada toward the Russian exports produced by forced labor or by labor paid for with money which has no value outside of Russia? The matter will have to be considered carefully in order to protect Canadian workmen. Already action in this direction has been taken by United States. The following is from a letter sent out from British Columbia House in London:

"The people of Russia are being compelled or persuaded by propaganda to give the greatest output for the barest minimum of existence in order that imports of manufactures may be kept down and credits for machinery created abroad. Russia pays for her produce by merely turning a printing press, she does not need gold. As she will have no dividends to pay on capital when her factories are in full swing, she will have no difficulty in dumping into any market, and will swamp the world with cheap goods with which other industrial nations cannot hope to compete. Unless this evil of forced labor is met, and met now, by concerted international action it is quite patent that something more than mere economic competition is threatened. That is only a means to an end. The Soviet Government, like the Communist International, is merely an instrument of the Communist Party, whose leaders have never disguised the fact that their ultimate object is a world revolution; and it is the conviction that they are helping to bring about this revolution which inspires their followers to endure the privations imposed by the five years plan.

"What is the nature of these privations? At the present moment there are in Northern Russia seven prison camps containing a total of over 600,000 prisoners. During the winter of 1929-30 they suffered 72,000 'casualties.' Every prisoner engaged in forest work has to fell and strip 35 timber logs a day, plus a further nine logs under the 'Socialistic Efficiency Competition' and an additional 25 per cent to show his patriotic fervour! For this he receives a normal ration of one kilogramme (2 1-5 lbs.) of black bread a day with a plate of soup, generally made of rotten fish. Meat, old horse flesh, is given only twice a week. All this takes no account of the conditions regulating what in Russia is called voluntary work but which in other countries—Liberia, for instance—would be called sheer slavery."

GOLD RUSH IN ALBERTA

Provincial Police take Charge and Watch Developments in New Livingstone Range Area

LETHBRIDGE, Feb. 19.—"Still going in" is the word from Nanton and Stavely, jumping off places for the Livingstone range gold rush.

Spirits of Alberta's prospectors are not dampened by the report that assays of ore from the find show only traces of gold and no platinum. E. Overand of Stavely who got in on the "ground floor," staking one of the first claims in the potential El Dorado, is as hopeful as ever. Further samples of ore have been sent to assay offices at Vancouver and Denver.

Indications that many would go in caused the Alberta provincial police to send in a detail composed of Inspector Scott of "D" detachment here and Corp. Frewin of Nanton. Beautiful weather prevails throughout southern Alberta, the mercury standing around 60 in the middle of the day nights are cool, especially in the foothill country. Police however, fear that tragedy may overtake the goldseekers in the hills should the weather suddenly turn cold, and all parties going in are warned to protect themselves with plenty of bedding and food.

Nanton and Stavely are reaping a harvest from the rush. By a coincidence the hotel at Stavely is named the "Yukon."

Trace of Gold

A trace of gold was found in the samples from the Livingstone range country, submitted to the Sullivan concentrator at Chapman Camp, B.C. for assay by E. Overand and Charles Fitzsimmons of Stavely, Alberta. It was their find that started the present rush to the scene of the strike.

In a letter C. T. Oughtred, superintendent of concentration for the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada at Chapman Camp, states that while the mine is not operating a customs assay office, the prospectors' sample was run for gold and returns indicated a trace of the metal. No mention of platinum was made when the samples were submitted.

Mr. Oughtred makes no estimate of what the ore will run per ton.

THE TROUBLE WITH P. G. E.

Spineless Treatment Governments Have Given it is Cause, Vancouver Financial Paper Says

The tragedy of the P.G.E. Railway has been the ridicule and the spinelessness with which successive governments and opposition at Victoria have treated it. Had a provincial government, says the Financial News, of Vancouver, taken the P.G.E. in hand without further ado and arranged for its completion to Peace River, the future of the road would now be assured and the financial position of the province of British Columbia in 1931 would almost certainly make more cheerful reading.

Twenty Years Ago

In Prince Rupert

February 19, 1911.

The indignation of Stewart citizens at the refusal of the provincial government to grant them incorporation continues. They find it hard to reconcile Premier McBride's refusal with a promise along this line which he had made last November.

Illumination was turned into Prince Rupert streets and houses last night for the first time from the new steam plant of the city at Cow Bay.

Under the auspices of the Prince Rupert branch of the International Longshoremen's Union, an enjoyable social was held last night in the Industrial Hall. W. E. Dennings, president, was in the chair. There were speeches by G. B. Casey and W. H. Montgomery.

SPIRITUAL WELL BEING

Roger W. Babson Says Such Wealth is of Economic Value

Recently I suggested that later the nations would recognize the economic value of accumulating spiritual wealth but that they are not now in the mood to do so, writes Roger W. Babson.

Such a time may, however, be much nearer than I had thought. Apparently people today are not only tired out physically, but are discouraged. They lack that faith which is essential to personal or national progress. Accompanying this lack of faith is a disrespect for law, order and experience. Children are self-sufficient of their parents; and parents are self-sufficient of their God. In fact, faith, to be effective, must be backed up by righteousness. Faith cannot be bought or quickly obtained when in trouble—like medicine. Faith must be acquired slowly, before it is needed—like education. Faith comes through patient devotion, right living and service to others.

A great mass of wage workers, executives and young business people have never before witnessed a severe business depression. Ever since Germany declared war in 1914—with the exception of a very short readjustment period after the war ended—there has been a constant demand for labor.

In view of the steady work and easy profits which the above described condition made possible, this new generation has felt sufficient in itself. Sabbath schools and churches have been neglected, family prayers have been given up, and Sunday has been made a common holiday. Hence, unlike previous generations, a large percentage of the people now unemployed or losing money in business, have no faith upon which to fall back. When employed or making money, they did nothing to store up spiritual reserves and hence have none to draw upon, now that employment and profits have vanished. As a result, great masses of people are discouraged and know not where to turn. The material wealth upon which they solely depended has gone. They have no spiritual wealth upon which to draw and they are tired out physically.

What is true of individuals is also true of nations.

People should understand that before prosperity can return there must be a renewed interest in the spiritual life by both individuals and nations. Nations should realize that the world has always possessed raw materials and labor; but has been prosperous only when the people have been actuated by a religious faith to use these resources for advancement and service. This is the law of life and now is the time when it should be taught in churches, schools, and colleges. Think it over.

"Husband off to work children off to school how do you do it?"

"Oh, that's easy if you serve Shredded Wheat. I just take the biscuits from the package and serve them with cream or with hot milk on cold winter days. My family never tire of it, and of course that pleases me, because Shredded Wheat is a great body-builder. The necessary vitamins and minerals are there, and so is the bran which is so important for good health."
